Chapter 1

GENERAL GUIDANCE

1.1. Purpose. The purpose of this instruction is to provide United States Air Force (USAF) guidance and direction on the education and training of Airmen conducting air advising operations.

1.2. General. The core mission of the Air Advisor Weapon System is to conduct Operational Advising (OA) to support US strategic objectives, geographic combatant command theater strategies, and Theater Campaign Plans by working by, with, and through partner nations in the development, sustainment, and employment of their aviation enterprises. Operational Advising consists of the following seven basic activities: assessing, training, advising, assisting, accompanying, equipping, and liaising. OA is the USAF specific capability to work tactically across the competition spectrum to organize, train, equip, build, advise and/or assist partner nations in the development of sustainable capacity and capability. Its desired end state is to enhance the partner's interoperability with US forces and to sustain integration of ally and partner airpower commitments with US forces during multinational operations. Additional information about Air Advisors can be found in DAFI 10-4301, Volume 2, Air Advisor Standardization and Evaluation Program, DAFI 10-4301, Volume 3, Air Advising Operations, Air Force Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures (AFTTP) 3-4.5, Air Advising, and AFTTP 3-2.76*, Multi-Service Tactics, Techniques, and Procedures for Advising Foreign Security Forces (Advising)*.

1.2.1. The USAF organizes, trains, and equips Airmen to conduct air advising activities in support of combatant commander (CCDR) theater campaign plans, global campaign plans, Commander, Air Force Forces campaign support plans, and associated Security Cooperation (SC) Country Plans to execute missions across the competition continuum. During steady-state and campaigning, security cooperation-related activities and missions (as defined by Joint Publication 3-20 Security Cooperation) executed by Air Advisors may include, but are not limited to, security assistance (SA), SFA, security sector assistance, foreign internal defense, building partnerships, building partner capacity, building partner aviation capacity, and aviation enterprise development. Operational Advising facilitates irregular warfare activities including counter threat and stability operations. During humanitarian assistance and disaster relief activities and/or when competition transitions to armed conflict, Air Advisors execute multinational operations (as defined by Joint Publication 3-16, Multinational Operations) by, with, and through foreign security force commitments to the overall effort.

1.2.2. Air Advisor education and training provides Airmen with a foundational capability to successfully engage with foreign security force counterparts. It emphasizes a mix of language, regional expertise, and culture in accordance with (IAW) Department of the Air Force Instruction (DAFI) 36-4005, Total Force Language, Regional Expertise, and Culture Program.

1.2.3. Air Advisor education and training is tailored to provide Airmen the necessary knowledge and skills to perform their duties in any operating environment (e.g., permissive, uncertain, and hostile environments) as defined by the supported geographic CCDR.

1.2.4. Air Advisor education and training programs ensure Airmen assigned to conduct Air Advisor duties obtain and maintain requisite training. These programs:

1.2.4.1. Support pre-deployment training for Airmen tasked through the Global Force Management (GFM) process to fill recurring and emergent mission taskings supporting CCDRs.

1.2.4.2. Support mission-ready training for designated Air Advisor forces and/or units that execute Operational Advising, including multinational and SC missions in support of CCDR objectives.

1.2.4.3. Support Airmen tasked to conduct other SC missions and activities as required.

1.2.4.4. Identify Air Advisor training requirements across the Fiscal Year Defense Plan (FYDP) and publish the Air Advisor Training and Education Training Guidance Letter (TGL) used for planning and programming. Air Advisor schoolhouse training is typically conducted by Air Mobility Command's (AMC) Expeditionary Operations School at Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst using Air Education and Training Command (AETC)-approved curriculum, but Mobile Training Teams (MTTs) conducted by the schoolhouse instructors may be available after AETC vetting and approval.

1.2.4.5. Support Special Operations Forces (SOF) students attending AETC-sponsored courses included in the Air Advisor Training and Education TGL. Note: Air Force Special Operations Command (AFSOC) determines student production at AFSOC education and training venues.

1.2.4.6. Provide general information on conventional force (CF) Air Advisor and Combat Aviation Advisor (CAA) courses and locations on the Education and Training Course Announcements website.

1.2.4.7. Support Special Operations Forces (SOF) and Conventional Forces (CF) attending joint sponsored courses that mirror SFA interest and equities such as: the Irregular Warfare Center at Fort Bragg, N.C.

1.3. Key Definitions and Terms. Attachment 1 contains a glossary of references and supporting information, to include abbreviations, acronyms, and terms used in this publication. This document does not include a complete list of multi-service and USAF brevity terms and acronyms that may be applicable to Air Advisors. When using this instruction, the following terms apply:

1.3.1. "Must", "will", or "shall" indicate a mandatory requirement.

1.3.2. "Should" is normally used to indicate a preferred or recommended option or method of accomplishment.

1.3.3. "May" indicates an acceptable or satisfactory method or option.

1.3.4. "Note" indicates operating procedures, techniques, issues, and items, which are considered necessary to emphasize.

1.4. Scope. This instruction prescribes USAF procedures and responsibilities for planning, scheduling, resourcing, managing, and executing Air Advisor education and training.

1.4.1. This instruction governs all USAF Air Advisor education and training for Airmen assigned to designated and expeditionary Air Advisor units and those selected for temporary expeditionary taskings.

1.4.2. Aircrew qualification and maintenance certification programs for USAF personnel operating and/or maintaining non-USAF aircraft in support of SC are governed by applicable 11- or 21-series instructions and/or guidance by the governing authority. Major Commands (MAJCOMs) may develop guidance addressing additional Air Advisor education and training.

1.5. Applicability.

1.5.1. Conventional and special operations Airmen, government civilians, and contractors pursuant to a contractual relationship, may serve as USAF Air Advisors.

1.5.2. Contractors adhere to the requirements of the governing contract.

1.5.3. Military members and civilian employees overseeing contractors acting as Air Advisors must ensure that contractors are not engaged to perform inherently governmental functions or engage in personal services as part of the Air Advisor duties. (T-3).

1.6. Air Advisor Education and Training Course Guidance. Units providing personnel to conduct air advising operations will train Airmen per unit mission essential tasks or per specific mission task requirements. (T-3). MAJCOMs conducting Air Advisor education and training will develop syllabi in accordance with established training levels and use the Under Secretary of Defense, Personnel and Readiness Memo, Guidance on Common Training Standards for Security Force Assistance (SFA) and the USAF Air Advisor Career Field Education and Training Plan (CFETP) as references to establish education and training. MAJCOMs possessing designated forces and/or units will establish Air Advisor continuation training requirements and may supplement pre-deployment training requirements established in this instruction for their assigned forces.

1.6.1. Airmen requiring Air Advisor education and training may complete other approved military branch, government agency, or partner nation education and training courses that meet the requirements published in this instruction. The Future Operations Division, Directorate of Operations and Communications, Headquarters Air Education and Training Command (AETC/A3X) is the vetting and approval authority for conventional forces. The Operations Directorate, Headquarters Air Force Special Operations Command Air Advisor Functional Area Managers (AFSOC/A3T and/or A3O) are the vetting and approval authority for SOF.

1.6.2. Education and training enable CF Air Advisors to operate independently of, integrate with, or augment USAF SOF Air Advisors.

1.7. Air Advisor Scheduling Priorities. The annual Air Advisor Training and Education TGL provides a forecast of requirements to facilitate programming, scheduling, and allocations for Air Advisor courses. It also serves as the means to determine funding levels.

1.7.1. In order to provide flexibility in response to dynamic taskings and current SC priorities, AF/A34T, in coordination with AETC and the Air Advisor Course staff, is the adjudication authority for prioritization of course attendees.

1.7.2. The MAJCOM functional manager for the applicable Air Advisor education and training (e.g., AETC/A3XP for CF and AFSOC/A3T or A3O for SOF) approves out-of-cycle training requests. If requirements exceed capacity the MAJCOM requiring out-of-cycle training will:

1.7.2.1. Provide additional funding and/or resources to meet the requirement.

1.7.2.2. Submit an estimate of the resources needed to meet the requirements to AF/A34T for consideration.

1.7.2.3. Grant an exemption or waiver as detailed in paragraph 1.8.

1.7.2.4. When feasible, rearrange the Air Advisor education and training schedule or make other adjustments to accommodate the out-of-cycle request.

1.7.2.5. Disapprove the request.

1.8. Exemptions and Waivers.

1.8.1. Course and Syllabus Waivers and Exemptions.

1.8.1.1. Exemptions may be granted when other education and training or experience meets or exceeds a specific Air Advisor syllabus requirement or set of requirements.

1.8.1.2. A waiver is needed for deviations (other than exemptions) from an approved syllabus or course requirement.

1.8.1.3. AETC/A3X is the authority for granting exemptions and waivers for specific CF Air Advisor course syllabi. AETC/A3X will coordinate with gaining and losing MAJCOMs prior to granting waivers/exceptions. AETC/A3X will document the exemptions and waivers and send training deficiency memos to gaining commanders.

1.8.1.4. AFSOC Functional Area Manager (FAM) (A3O and A3T) is the authority for granting waivers and exemptions to SOF-specific Air Advisor course syllabi. AFSOC/A3T will document the exemptions and waivers, and send training deficiency memos to gaining commanders.

1.8.2. Course/Air Advisor training attendance waivers.

1.8.2.1. Supported commanders should change the requirement to obviate the need for course attendance waivers.

1.8.2.2. Units will submit course waiver requests to the Air Force Forces staff who will review and provide recommendations to the Commander, Air Force Forces or their designated representative (no lower than an Air Force Forces Directorate), for approval. (T-2).

1.8.2.3. Supporting commanders shall request a waiver through AETC/A3X from the supported commander. (T-2).

Completing the appropriate formal training course satisfies all initial qualification training requirements, however, MAJCOMs may adopt more stringent training plans for qualification within standing units.

3.2. Common Training Standards for Security Force Assistance Missions.

3.2.1. Common SFA training standards. To meet DoD requirements for SFA training, the joint community has established recommended security force assistance training standards, codified in a standard list of knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes, that consist of: (1) individual-enabling tasks and/or skills; (2) collective-enabling tasks; and (3) developmental tasks.

3.2.2. Air Advisor Education and Training Guidelines. This instruction uses the Under Secretary of Defense, Personnel and Readiness Memo, Guidance on Common Training Standards for Security Force Assistance and additional USAF-specific Air Advisor training requirements as guidelines to establish the CF Air Advisor and SOF CAA levels of Air Advisor education and training.

3.3. Training Levels.

3.3.1. Basic and advanced Air Advisor Levels. The basic and advanced Air Advisor education and training levels enable Airmen to perform basic to complex Air Advisor duties. Graduates possess training that incorporates Air Advisor skills (to include force protection/fieldcraft), regional expertise, culture, planning, and assessment. Language capability is not mandatory for Air Advisor qualification, but should be identified by unit commanders when needed. Language requirements should be based on mission essential tasks and supported theater requirements.

3.3.2. CAA Level. CAA is a legacy qualification and is recognized in this AFI as such.

3.4. Training Requirements.

3.4.1. Individuals who have previously performed Air Advisor duties may seek a waiver to the requirements IAW paragraph 1.8. The requirement for Air Advisor education and training is in addition to any required flying and maintenance-specific training in non-USAF aircraft.

3.4.2. Individuals or groups in the following categories will receive Air Advisor education and training:

3.4.2.1. Designated Air Advisor billets at the US Air Force Central Command Air Warfare Center. (T-1).

3.4.2.2. Defense Language Institute English Language Course, and USAF School of Aerospace Medicine instructors (to include Defense Institute for Medical Operations), and other health professionals tasked to deploy in an air advising capacity. (T-1).

3.4.2.3. ANG personnel receiving air advising-related taskings through the ANG Mobilization Cell. (T-1). However, based on mission requirements, activities in support of DoD State Partnership Program may use Air Advisor Computer-Based Training to meet training requirements.

3.4.2.4. AFR personnel receiving air advising-related taskings through the AFR Force Generation Center. (T-1).

3.4.2.5. USAF IHS assigned to air component IHS teams or other health professionals, where duties consist of performing medical SC and/or air advising activities. (T-1).

3.4.2.6. Air Advisors assigned to contingency response wings/contingency response groups/advisory groups. (T-1).

3.4.2.7. Air Advisors supporting contingency or combat operations. (T-1).

3.4.2.8. Members deploying in support of ETSSs and MTTs under Title 10 U.S.C., Armed Forces or Title 22 U.S.C., Foreign Relations and Intercourse Foreign Military Sales cases receive Air Advisor education and training as determined by AFSAT and AETC/A3X IAW para 2.9.3.2 above. (T-1).

3.4.2.9. Personnel designated as C-MAJCOM Air Advisor FAMs (T-1).

3.4.2.10. Other designated Air Advisor forces and/or units, as required. (T-1).

3.4.3. When Air Advisors are sourced through means other than Global Force Management, Air Force Forces staffs and SCOs will ensure a minimum of two trained Air Advisors or 10 percent of the air advising team, whichever is greater. (T-1).

3.4.4. AFSOF Level Air Advisor Education and Training (T-1).

3.4.4.1. SOF aircrews, such as mobility, ISR, and strike pilots, CSOs, WSOs, loadmasters, SMAs and sensor operators assigned to units or unit type codes tasked to perform SOF-specific Advisor duties or provide support to Special Operations Advising Teams (T-1).

3.4.4.2. SOF mission enablers, including but not limited to security forces, intelligence, communications, combat control team, and survival, evasion, resistance, and escape personnel assigned to units or unit type codes tasked to perform SOF-specific Advisor duties or provide support to Special Operations Advising Teams (T-1).

3.4.4.3. Other personnel as determined by AFSOC, USSOCOM, or TSOCs. (T-1).

3.5. Training Methods.

3.5.1. Air Advisor education and training is offered in-residence at the Air Advisor Schoolhouse. There are limited opportunities for Air Advisor training via MTT on a case-by-case basis; however, these MTTs do not replace the AAIQC, nor do they award Air Advisor qualifications. Contact AETC/A3X to request an Air Advisor MTT.

3.5.2. Locally constructed Air Advisor training must comply with Chapter 5 and be approved by AETC/A3X and the responsible C-MAJCOM. (T-2).

3.6. Knowledge, Skills, Abilities, and Attitudes. MAJCOMs conducting Air Advisor education and training will use the appropriate AETC/A3X-approved syllabi.

Chapter 4

ADDITIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING

4.1. Overview. This chapter discusses Air Advisor mission qualification training, continuation training, specialized training, requalification training, and senior officer training.

4.2. Mission Qualification Training. MAJCOMs with designated Air Advisor forces/units will ensure these units develop a mission qualification training program designed to ensure personnel are mission ready and fully trained in unit-specific Air Advisor requirements. Note: AFSOC will develop and define SOF-specific training for mission qualification for Air Advisors assigned to AFSOC. This training should be conducted following the completion of Air Advisor IQC. These advisors will receive certification and validation of mission qualification course through HAF/A34T after development (T-1).

4.2.1. Special Duty Identifier (SDI).

4.2.1.1. Basic Air Advisor is a mandatory SDI for those individuals completing Air Advisor IQC. (T-1). The DAF Form 2096, Classification/On-the-Job-Training Action for this SDI is submitted by the formal schoolhouse providing the training. Individuals receiving Air Advisor training prior to February 2019 must submit the DAF Form 2096 to their Military Personnel Flight IAW procedures outlined in the Air Force Officer Classification Directory or the Air Force Enlisted Classification Directory to receive their SDI. (T-1).

4.2.1.2. Advanced Air Advisor is a voluntary SDI. It is awarded to any basic Air Advisor who has completed a six-month Air Advisor assignment and/or deployment or completion of a formal mission qualification within a standing Air Advisor unit.

4.2.1.3. Combat Aviation Advisor (legacy) is a Special Operations Forces SDI was issued to those Airmen completing formal USAF Special Operations School CAA curriculum and certification process.

4.2.2. Air Advisor Tab. The Air Advisor Tab is authorized for permanent wear IAW AFI 36-2903, Dress and Personal Appearance of Air Force Personnel, by any Airman who has been awarded a minimum of the basic Air Advisor SDI. An Airman must be awarded an Air Advisor SDI (basic, advance, or CAA) to wear the Air Advisor Tab. (T-1).

4.3. Continuation Training. MAJCOMs with designated Air Advisor forces and/or units will set standards for continuation training that are designed to ensure individuals maintain proficiency in applicable Air Advisor knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes.

4.4. Specialized Training. While priority is placed on course material that meets Air Advisor education and training standards, MAJCOMs are authorized to build syllabi and provide specialized training in addition to the courses associated with each Air Advisor training level.

4.4.1. Examples of specialized training include Air Advisor Mission Commander and Team Sergeant training, advanced language education and training, education and training on specialized skills and programs, aircraft qualification training, alternative weapons familiarization training, or advanced weapons qualification and proficiency training.

4.4.2. Personnel entering training for Mission Commander/Team Sergeant must be certified as an Advanced Air Advisor and possess the appropriate SDI. (T-1).

4.4.3. To allow a previously trained Air Advisor to deploy elsewhere, an individual trained in one language, region, or culture may receive specialized training in another language, region, or culture.

4.4.4. USAF officers preparing to serve as defense air attachés, or Foreign Area Officers receive specialized training to cover specific Air Advisor responsibilities (e.g., core Air Advisor knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes) not addressed elsewhere in their education and training. AETC/A3X, in coordination with SAF/IA, determines the need and assists in developing associated training requirements as necessary.

4.4.5. Specialized courses may also meet previously discussed, MAJCOM-directed continuation training requirements.

4.5. Requalification Training.

4.5.1. Individuals who have not served in an Air Advisor capacity or have not conducted Air Advisor education and training in over 24 months may require requalification training prior to conducting air advising activities. Requalification should include differences in region, culture, and language and any updates to doctrine, policy and/or procedures as well as the perishable skills associated with OA. The Air Advisor cross-functional manager, in coordination with the mission requirements owner, will determine requalification training requirements. (T-1).

4.5.2. MAJCOMs conducting Air Advisor education and training will develop requalification standards that meet mission requirements and consider previous qualification and experience of the Air Advisor.

4.6. Senior Officer Training. Training will focus on principal advisors as defined in JP 3-20, Security Cooperation, and be tailored to individual education and training, experience, and expected mission essential tasks.

Chapter 5

INSTRUCTOR TRAINING

5.1. Overview. Instructors at Air Advisor education and training venues can be military, civilian, or contractor and should have previous Air Advisor experience.

5.2. Responsibilities.

5.2.1.1. Develop and oversee the implementation of Air Advisor instructor training and certification requirements.

5.2.1.2. Develop, implement, and maintain an Air Advisor instructor training program and associated syllabi.

5.2.1.3. Ensure the required instructor training resources are available to personnel for the proper training and certification of newly assigned faculty.

5.2.2.4. Develop Air Advisor instructor lesson plans adjusted for trainee's previous qualifications and experience, and establish expected completion dates.

5.2.2.5. Provide training on the safe operation of the specific equipment utilized in Air Advisor courses the individual instructor is expected to teach.

5.2.2.6. Develop, implement, and maintain a process that provides ample supervision of the organization's instructor training program.

5.2.2.7. Maintain thorough documentation of individual training for military, government civilian, and contracted instructors, and maintain training records for all assigned instructors.

5.2.2.8. Develop, implement, and maintain a process that monitors instructor trainee progress, documents non-progression, and, when required, removes trainees from air advisor instructor training. Training venues shall consult with civilian personnel or the contracting officer representative before removing civilians or contract personnel from training. (T-2).

5.2.2.9. Ensure ample flexibility exists to adjust instructor training to meet emerging requirements.

5.2.2.10. Develop, implement, and maintain an instructor development program and recurring evaluation requirements (e.g., instructor certification maintenance) that ensure instructors remain current in the performance of instructor duties and in the specific subject matter they instruct.

5.2.2.11. Submit DAF Form 2096 for award of Air Advisor classification identifier for all students meeting training requirements. This includes specialized training.

5.3. Instructor Trainee Requirements. Air Advisor instructor trainees will:

Terms

Advise—For purposes of this instruction, the term advise applies to the act of communicating professional knowledge and skills to foreign service forces personnel. The act of advising consists of five basic activities: assessing, training, advising, assisting, and equipping. Advising involves the practical application of operational doctrine, tactics, techniques, and procedures in a partner nation and may be in the form of direct support that may or may not include combat. Advising is real-world, situation-specific, and may directly implicate the US in a given partner nation contingency or operation. Generally, the step from training to advising requires approval of the US President.

Air Advising—A category of related activities that provides the basic operational methods used by USAF personnel to work with partner nations to develop, sustain, and employ their aviation enterprise to meet their national security needs, in support of US interests. In essence, it is the act of communicating professional knowledge and skills to partner nation personnel. Air advising occurs within the following five core tasks: assessing, training, advising, assisting, and equipping.

Air Advising Activities—For the purpose of this instruction, are defined as security cooperation efforts conducted in support of combatant commander, commander air force forces, and/or TSOC objectives across the range of military operations.

Air Advisor—An Airman specially trained and educated to apply aviation support and operational expertise to assess, train, advise, assist, and equip partner nations in the development, sustainment, and employment of their aviation enterprise to meet their national security needs, in support of US interests.

Air Advisor/SFA Cross-functional Authority—Manage the needs of the Air Advisor/SFA occupational capability by identifying cross-functional billets, associating proficiency levels, and development (training and/or experience) necessary to successfully conduct their mission and working with functional leads to ensure career long, deliberate development occurs.

Airmen—For purposes of this instruction, applies to all ANG, AF Reserve, Regular Air Force, and government civilian USAF personnel.

Allocations—Class seats reserved for a specific program user at their request.

Assessment—(1) A continuous process that measures the overall effectiveness of employing joint force capabilities during military operations; and (2) determination of the progress toward accomplishing a task, creating an effect, or achieving an objective. For the purposes of this instruction, the term assess is one of five basic advisor activities. In this capacity, it refers to measuring the effectiveness of SC at the strategic, operational, and tactical level. It similarly refers to determining progress toward accomplishing SC objectives, effects, and tasks. More specifically for the Air Advisor, it refers to developing an executable and assessable event-level plan and after action report with appropriate linkages to operational-level plans. Finally, it refers to an Air Advisor responsibility to assess a partner nation's aviation capabilities. (JP 3-0, Joint Operations)

Assist—For purposes of this instruction, the term assist applies to the act of providing support or aid to partner nation personnel executing specific missions. Assisting is one of five basic advisor activities. Assisting is a form of direct support that may or may not include combat. Generally, the step from advising to assisting requires approval of the US President when the tasks are performed in conjunction with real-world military operations.

Aviation Enterprise—The sum total of all air domain resources, processes, and culture, including personnel, equipment, infrastructure, operations, sustainment, and air mindedness.

Aviation Enterprise Development—Defines the plans, programs, and activities undertaken to develop the system of systems necessary for a nation to optimize employment of national aviation resources. The total aviation resource capacity and capability of a nation is defined by the sum total of all air domain resources including humans, aircraft, processes and infrastructure in both the civilian and military/security sectors. Modern standards that function to provide efficient, safe, and effective employment of national aviation resources calls for infrastructure development that considers the civilian aviation sector and the military/security aviation sector of a nation as mutually supportive systems of an integrated air domain in developing nations.

Building Partnerships—Joint Capability Area. The ability to set the conditions for interaction with partner, competitor, or adversary leaders, military forces, or relevant populations by developing and presenting information and conducting activities to affect their perceptions, will, behavior, and capabilities.

Building Partner Capacity—Assisting domestic and/or foreign partners and institutions with the development of their capabilities and capacities—for mutual benefit—to address US national or shared global security interests. An outcome of Security Force Assistance activities, it is the development of capabilities and capacities among foreign partners for the mutual benefit of the partner and US national or shared global security interests. This definition is derived from the Tier III JCA of "building the capabilities and capacities of partners and institutions" but is not defined in Joint Publications or other DoD Issuances. (Security Force Assistance Lexicon and Framework)

Certification—A formal indication of an individual's ability to perform a task to required standards.

Combat Aviation Advisor (CAA)—Personnel specifically trained and tasked to assess, train, advise and assist foreign aviation forces in airpower employment, sustainment, and force integration. They help friendly and allied forces employ and sustain their own airpower resources. When necessary, CAAs integrate those resources into joint and combined (multinational) operations. CAAs serve the combatant commanders' advisory needs throughout the range of military operations from small military-to-military contact events and contingency operations to major regional conflict. (AFTTP 3-4.5)

Continuation Training—Additional training beyond the Air Advisor training levels with emphasis on ensuring designated force Air Advisors remain current and qualified to perform Air Advisor duties.

Conventional Force (CF)—Those forces other than designated special operations forces. (JP 3-05, Special Operations)

Designated Air Advisor Forces/Units—Those forces and/or units with air advising designed operational capability statements and mission essential tasks. Designated Air Advisor forces/units have readiness requirements for personnel, training, and equipment, if applicable, and report those requirements in status of resources and training system and defense readiness reporting system. Personnel assigned to the air advising mission in designated forces/units are required to accomplish Air Advisor education and training at the basic or advanced level prior to conducting Air Advisor operations. See Chapter 4.

Education and Training Course Announcements—A website that provides information on USAF education and training, to include MAJCOM procedures, fund cite instructions, reporting instructions, and listings for those formal courses conducted, administered, or managed by USAF MAJCOMs.

Equip—For purposes of this instruction, the term equip applies to the act of furnishing or provisioning partner nation personnel for service or action. Equipping is one of five basic advisor activities. Individuals performing Air Advisor activities may be expected to facilitate the transfer of US defense articles and services under security assistance programs to eligible partner nation aviation units.

Expeditionary Air Advisor Forces—Those individuals, teams, or units, who are not aligned with an air advising designed operational capability statements or mission essential tasks. Consequently, expeditionary Air Advisor forces have no specific readiness requirements for personnel, training, and equipment and do not report such requirements in status of resources and training system and defense readiness reporting system. Expeditionary Air Advisor forces are required to accomplish Air Advisor education and training prior to serving in an Air Advisor capacity.

Exemption—For purposes of this instruction, the term exemption applies and may be granted when other training or experience meets or exceeds a specific Air Advisor syllabus requirement or set of requirements.

Extended Training Service Specialist (ETSS)—ETSS are DoD military and civilian personnel technically qualified to provide advice, instruction, and training in the installation, operation, and maintenance of weapons, equipment, and systems.

Fieldcraft—For purposes of this instruction, the term fieldcraft applies to an area of Air Advisor education and training focused on knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes of a force protection and/or expeditionary nature. These knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes enable graduates to safely and effectively perform their duties in the expected operating environment, while protecting their equipment and other resources. Additionally, fieldcraft education and training is typically tailored to meet the requirements of an anticipated deployed location, threat, mission, and/or duty assignment.

Force Protection—Preventive measures taken to mitigate hostile actions against Department of Defense personnel (to include family members), resources, facilities, and critical information. (JP 3-0) AF—The process of detecting threats and hazards to the Air Force and its mission, and applying measures to deter, pre-empt, negate or mitigate them based on an acceptable level of risk.

Force protection is a fundamental principle of all military operations as a way to ensure the survivability of a commander‘s forces.

Foreign Internal Defense—Participation by civilian and military agencies of a government in any of the action programs taken by another government or other designated organization to free and protect its society from subversion, lawlessness, insurgency, terrorism, and other threats to its security. (JP 3-22, Foreign Internal Defense)

Foreign Military Sales—That portion of United States security assistance for sales programs that require agreements/contracts between the United States Government and an authorized recipient government or international organization for defense articles and services to be provided to the recipient for current stocks or new procurements under Department of Defense managed contracts, regardless of the source of financing. (JP 3-20) Under this authority, the United States Government sells defense articles and services to foreign governments and international organizations.

Foreign Security Forces—Include, but are not limited to, military forces; police forces; border police, coast guard, and customs officials; paramilitary forces; interior and intelligence services; forces peculiar to specific nations, states, tribes, or ethnic groups; prison, correctional, and penal services; and the government ministries or departments responsible for the above services. For purposes of this instruction, foreign security forces also include other partners of a military nature who may not be directly affiliated with a sovereign nation.

Hostile Environment—Operational environment in which host government forces, whether opposed to or receptive to operations that a unit intends to conduct, do not have control of the territory and population in the intended operational area. (JP 3-0) For purposes of this instruction, a hostile environment is one of three operating environments established by the gaining C-MAJCOM/C-NAF or subordinate unit.

International Organization—An organization created by a formal agreement between two or more governments on a global, regional, or functional basis to protect and promote national interests shared by member states. (JP 3-08, Interorganizational Cooperation) Examples include the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, European Union, Association of Southeast Asian Nations, etc.

Irregular Warfare—A form of warfare where states and non-state actors campaign to assure or coerce states or other groups through indirect, non-attributable, or asymmetric activities. Also called IW. (DoD Dictionary)

Knowledge, Skills, Abilities, and Attitudes—When used in this instruction, this term refers to the knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes required of individuals performing a range of security force assistance duties. These knowledge, skills, abilities, and attitudes serve as the baseline for standardized security force assistance training requirements.

Mobile Training Team (MTT)—A team of US DoD personnel on temporary duty in a foreign country for the purpose of training foreign personnel in the operation, maintenance, or other support of weapon systems and support equipment, as well as training for general military operations.

MyLearning—An evolving, outcomes-focused approach to education, training, and performance aiding that blends standards-based distributed learning models emphasizing reusable content objects, content and learning management systems, performance support systems/devices, web applications services, and connectivity. MyLearning is an evolution of distributed learning that emphasizes collaboration on standards-based versions of reusable objects, networks, and learning management systems, yet may include some legacy methods and media. MyLearning is structured learning that takes place without requiring the physical presence of an instructor. Although the USAF uses the term advanced distributed learning, some federal agencies and DoD components may use the term distance learning. These terms refer to the same basic concept.

Operational Advising (OA)—The operations, activities, and investments (OAI) supporting Air Component Commander objectives conducted across the competition continuum of cooperation, crises, and conflict to assist partner nation forces to generate and conduct full mission capabilities utilizing their equipment, infrastructure, and operating conditions. Includes but is not limited to numerous SC categories and program models including SFA, FID, BPC and others permitted by law. It focuses on operationalizing partner nation air mission capabilities and often includes integrating partner nation air forces with their surface forces to achieve joint and combined effects. OA consists of hands-on in-country assess, train, advise, assist, and equip activities and exercises utilizing partner nation owned equipment either of US and/or foreign origin

Permissive Environment—Operational environment in which host country military and law enforcement agencies have control as well as the intent and capability to assist operations that a unit intends to conduct. (JP 3-0) For purposes of this instruction, a permissive environment is one of three operating environments established by the gaining C-MAJCOM/C-NAF or subordinate unit.

Security Assistance (SA)—Group of programs authorized by Public Law 87-195, Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, and Public Law 90-629*, Arms Export Control Act of 1976*, or other related statutes by which the United States provides defense articles, military training, and other defense related services by grant, loan, credit, or cash sales in furtherance of national policies and objectives, and those that are funded and authorized through the Department of State to be administered by Department of Defense/Defense Security Cooperation Agency are considered part of security cooperation. (JP 3-20)

Security Cooperation (SC)—All Department of Defense interactions with foreign security establishments to build security relationships that promote specific United States security interests, develop allied and partner nation military and security capabilities for self-defense and multinational operations, and provide United States forces with peacetime and contingency access to allied and partner nations. (JP 3-20)

Security Force Assistance (SFA)—The Department of Defense activities that support the development of the capacity and capability of foreign security forces and their supporting institutions. (JP 3-20)

Specialized Training—Additional training beyond the Air Advisor training levels developed to provide advanced skills associated with the Air Advisor mission.

Special Operations Forces (SOF)—Those Active and Reserve Component forces of the Services designated by the Secretary of Defense and specifically organized, trained, and equipped to conduct and support special operations. (JP 3-05)

Train—The act of teaching personnel to perform specific tasks. The act of training encompasses the set of events or activities presented in a structured or planned manner through one or more media for the attainment and retention of approved curriculum. For purposes of this instruction, training is one of five basic advisor activities. Individuals performing Air Advisor activities may be expected to train partner nation military aviation forces to operate and sustain indigenous airpower resources and capabilities. This training enables foreign aviation forces to accomplish a variety of airpower functional tasks, roles, and missions and can provide a doctrinal or procedural foundation for military operations and activities.
