This instruction implements Air Force Instruction (AFI) 40-301, Family Advocacy Program. This instruction defines specific guidelines for the protection and supervision of all children residing or visiting Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyoming (FEW AFB) including but not limited to Military Family Housing, on sports fields or playgrounds and other outdoor areas on the installation. Parents are ultimately responsible for the safety and welfare of their children and for compliance with this instruction. It is also essential that parents develop a safety and emergency plan. See attachment 2, Youth Supervision Metric Guidelines. In the event of suspected or actual child neglect or abuse, Security Forces will take physical charge and will contact the base Family Advocacy Office. In accordance with local law, it is illegal to provide a minor with tobacco or alcohol products or for a minor to use tobacco or alcohol products on F. E. Warren Air Force Base. Ensure all records created as a result of processes prescribed in this publication are maintained in accordance with AFMAN 33-363, Management of Records, and disposed of in accordance with Air Force Records Information Management System (AFRIMS) Records Disposition Schedule (RDS). 1.14. Certification: Approved babysitting training through the Red Cross certified baby-sitting course, or other AF-sanctioned program.

2. Age Requirements.

2.1. Children - newborn to six (6) years will not be left alone in quarters. They are allowed to walk to and from school beginning at age six (6) years and may be outside alone to include playing with immediate access (visual sight or hearing distance) to adult supervision. Base housing residents should be aware that "playgrounds" are unsupervised and that children five (5) years and younger will not be left at such locations without adult supervision. NOTE: Becoming unaware of the location of a child is evidence that frequent monitoring has not been exercised. Other parents supervising their own children at the playgrounds and fields do not assume supervisory duties of other children unless they have specifically agreed to do so with the child's parent(s). Supervision or arrangements for supervision are always the parent's responsibility. Children will not be left unattended in an automobile. (See Attachment 2 for age restrictions).

2.2. Children - seven (7) to ten (10) years of age should not be left alone in quarters (depending on necessity, maturity and the totality of the circumstances) without immediate access to adult supervision. They are allowed to walk to and from school and may be left outside alone to include playing with access (visual sight or hearing distance) to adult supervision. Other parents supervising their own children at the playgrounds and fields do not assume supervisory duties of other children unless they have specifically agreed to do so with the child's parent(s). Supervision or arrangements for supervision are always the parents' responsibility. Children in this age bracket also may not be left unattended in an automobile. (See Attachment 2 for age restrictions). They also cannot child sit siblings or others and cannot be unattended at sponsored events.

2.3. Pre-teens - eleven (11) to twelve (12) years of age should not be left alone in quarters for more than two (2) hours. The child must have ready access to adult supervision which may include a phone number to reach an adult. Before leaving children alone, it is important to assess their comfort level, maturity level, and ability to manage emergencies. They may be left alone outside to include playing. They may be left unattended in an automobile for no more than 15 minutes, with the ignition keys removed and not in extreme weather conditions. They are only allowed to child sit siblings and can child sit others if they have completed a certified training program. This age group may attend sponsored events unattended with parental approval.

2.3.1. As a general guideline, pre-teens should not be left alone for more than two hours. However, other factors such as whether the pre-teen has completed an approved training course, maturity level of the pre-teen and the necessity of individual circumstances may be considered.

2.3.2. For the ages below, the following guidelines (recommendations) are provided for responsible parenting practices, with the understanding that some youth may be more mature than others and also some youth may have special needs or circumstances which require greater supervision. These situations will be looked at on a case by case basis by the Family Advocacy Program.

2.4. Teenagers - thirteen (13) to seventeen (17) may be left alone in quarters for more than two hours. Teenagers may be left alone overnight although, it is not advised for teens fifteen (15) and younger. Sixteen years (16) and above may be left alone not to exceed five (5) consecutive days. Adult supervision must be available to make periodic checks. They may child sit siblings and others after completing certification training. They are also allowed to attend sponsored events unattended.

3. Curfew. Policy restricts minors (children and teenagers under the age of 16) during curfew hours from being in public places unless accompanied by an adult. Nighttime curfew policy hours are enforced seven days a week from 2200-0530. The curfew policy is intended to provide a safer community and better protects children from becoming victims of crime or becoming involved in delinquent behavior.

4. Violators of the Curfew Policy. Violators of the curfew policy may be detained and processed by Security Forces Law Enforcement and released to the minor's parent or guardian. In the event that the parent or guardian cannot be contacted in a reasonable time, the juvenile will be turned over to the appropriate commander or first sergeant. If the minor has no military affiliation, Security Forces will turn the minor over to local authorities.
