1. Overview. The basic objective of the PMRP is cost savings for the Department of Defense. Units that generate precious metals scrap are required to recover it when feasible and route through Defense Logistics Agency (DLA) Disposition Services. DLA will send all precious metal scrap to a recycler who extracts the fine/pure precious metal and then sells it back to the Department of Defense at a fraction of the market cost. The PMRP Monitors and Installation PMRP Manager will ensure precious metals scrap is recovered and turned in at the unit level.

2. Responsibilities:

2.1. Unit Commanders with shops where precious metals are used or recovered will: Appoint in writing a primary and alternate PMRP monitor for each shop/activity within the unit that handles precious metalsSingle point monitors at the unit level may be appointed as long as they can ensure the duties described below are carried out. This letter will be addressed to 49 LRS/LGRMI and also contain the name of the monitor, phone number, location (building and room number), type of precious metals used by their organization and the Supply ORG/ Shop Codes. For units that utilize precious metals recovery equipment the letter must also contain the type of recovery equipment used and the type of fine precious metals recovered.

2.2. The Installation PMRP Manager: Will conduct initial PMRP training for all newly-assigned unit PMRP Monitors. Newly assigned monitors will contact 49 LRS/LGRMI to schedule training. The PMRP Manager will conduct visits with each PMRP Monitor every 2 years at a minimum to ensure overall program requirements are being met.

2.3. PMRP Monitors: Monitors will maintain a PMRP Continuity Book, Attachment 2, and conduct self-inspections every 6 months using the checklist provided in Precious Metals Self-Inspection Checklist, Attachment 3, and maintain completed checklists for two years.

2.4. PMRP Monitors and/or Bench Stock Monitors: Monitors will review the Master Bench Stock Listing (S04) to ascertain that all bins and bin labels that contain precious metals are clearly color-coded with “blue” markings.

3. Issues from Bench Stock or Integrated Maintenance Data System/Integrated Logistics System-Supply orders: Will be a one-for-one exchange whenever possible. A PMRP issue log provided by the PMRP Manager or similar product will be used to ensure the unserviceable asset is returned and placed in the PMRP scrap collection point. If no return asset is available, annotate log as such. PMRP scrap shall be safeguarded in a manner that reduces the risk of pilferage and the chance of co-mingling with other scrap metals.

4. Using Organizations: Turn in all recovered precious metal assets to DLA Disposition Services at least every 6 months and will maintain documentation for 2 years. If no precious metals have been accumulated during the 6-month period, annotate this in the PMRP Continuity Book or issue log as such.
