SUMMARY OF CHANGES

This document is revised and must be reviewed. Minor updates to procedures and points of contact. Addition of templates for Public Affairs messaging and a process diagram.

1. Procedures:

1.1. The 673d Security Forces Squadron (SFS) Base Defense Operations Center (BDOC), 773d Civil Engineer Squadron (CES) Snow Barn, 3d Operations Support Squadron Airfield Operations (OSS/OSAA), or 3d Operations Support Squadron Weather Flight (OSS/OSW) will notify the 673d Air Base Wing Command Post (ABW/CP) when adverse weather conditions affect safe travel on, to, or from JBER. Though not weather-related, other adverse conditions, such as earthquakes, volcanic eruptions, or acts of nature, may also trigger the notification procedures described in this document. Note: Notification will be accomplished when conditions warrant. The 673 SFS BDOC has primary responsibility for notifying the 673 ABW/CP of adverse driving conditions.

1.2. The 673 ABW/CP will notify the 673d Mission Support Group Commander (MSG/CC) who will notify the 673 ABW/CC and recommend one of the following:

1.2.1. Mission Essential Reporting.

1.2.2. Delayed Reporting.

1.2.3. Early Release.

1.3. The decision of Mission Essential Reporting or Delayed Reporting should be made by the 673d Air Base Wing Commander (ABW/CC) no later than 0500 in order to inform the vast majority of the base population before they begin their drive to work.

1.4. Once the decision is finalized, the 673 MSG/CC will instruct the 673 ABW/CP to implement the appropriate checklist for one of the options noted above. Personnel will be notified initially via AtHoc™. Any additional guidance should funnel through their normal chain of command.

1.5. The 673 ABW/CP will contact 673d Air Base Wing Public Affairs (ABW/PA) who, in turn, will contact the local media and initiate changes to the JBER Information Line (552-INFO/4636), JBER web page (https://www.jber.jb.mil/), JBER Official Facebook page, and JBER Connect app with the latest reporting instructions.

2. General Instructions:

2.1. Mission Essential Reporting. Unit commanders and supervisors must brief personnel, before adverse weather conditions occur, whether or not they are required to report as mission essential. All other personnel will not report to work but should coordinate with their direct supervisors.

2.1.1. 673d Force Support Squadron (FSS) services provided during Mission Essential Reporting:

2.3. Early Release. Unit commanders are responsible for managing early release within their organizations, however, this action may only be initiated at the direction of the 673 ABW/CC. The intent is a staggered departure to alleviate congestion leaving the base and to allow those who live farthest from base to leave first. Unless the circumstances are highly unusual, personnel residing on base should not be released early. If so, they should be the last released.

3. Roles and Responsibilities:

3.1. The 673 SFS BDOC, 773 CES Snow Barn, 3 OSS/OSAA, and 3 OSS/OSW will notify the 673 ABW/CP anytime adverse weather conditions pose a significant impact to the installation including when:
