It complies with standards set forth by the following memorandums, public law and regulations: DODI 1035.01, Telework Policy, Headquarters Air Force (HAF) Telework/Remote Work Guide dated 14 May 2021, Public Law 104-52, Section 620; 31 United States Code (USC) Section 1348, 01/16/97; AFPD 16-14, Security Enterprise Governance; AFI 17-130, CyberSecurity Program Management, All State Memorandum; ANGI 36-2001, Management of Training and Operational Support within the Air National Guard. States are encouraged to supplement this instruction to meet local needs. This instruction does not apply to Dual Status Technicians in civilian status and Title 5 civilians. Ensure all records created as a result of processes prescribed in this publication are maintained in accordance with AFI 33-322, Records Management and Information Governance Program, and disposed of in accordance with the Air Force Records Disposition Schedule (RDS) located in the Air Force Records Management System.

SUMMARY OF CHANGES

This instruction has been significantly revised. Changes include but are not limited to, the inclusion of Active Guard and Reserve (AGR) members, removing the limitations placed on telework and delegating the overall responsibility to The Adjutant General or Commanding General, and incorporating the new HAF Telework/Remote Work guide.

Section A—General Information

1. Background.

1.1. Telework is defined as a work arrangement where a service member performs assigned official duties and other authorized activities at an approved Alternative Duty Location (ADL) on a regular, recurring, or a situational basis. This instruction establishes, sets forth and governs commanders' authority with respect to the types of training and duty that may be performed by all DSG and AGR teleworkers of the ANG in accordance with Federal statutes and Department of Defense (DoD) policy. This instruction does not limit any authorized training or operational support provided by a military member of the ANG as may be permitted without regard to this instruction.

1.2. Telework is voluntary. The approval authority should consider a variety of factors before approving telework agreements. These include:

1.2.1. Potential cost savings realized through physical footprint reduction, reduced turnover, etc.

1.2.2. Impacts to the organization's operational and administrative functions; personnel cost/savings considerations such as locality pay, new travel costs, and potential costs/savings resulting from any future change in official worksite;

1.2.3. Loss of valuable social interaction when individuals do not regularly work together in a traditional office setting and whether some may have difficulties in a remote setting without that social interaction;

1.2.4. Maintenance of quality customer service including any required physical office coverage;

1.2.5. Potential reorganization of work for other, on-site staff and subsequent perceptions of fairness;

1.2.6. The requirement for supervisors to monitor performance and focus on goals and outcomes rather than physical presence and activity;

1.2.7. Initial and ongoing communication on tasks and projects with supervisors and other team members;

1.2.8. Financial costs, such as shipping of work materials or equipment

1.2.9. Ability to provide logistical support to the employee.

1.3. This instruction requires that participants use a pre-authorized work agreement for accountability.

2. Scope. Telework, as a management tool, authorizes commanders or their appointed designees to allow members, to work in an official capacity for pay and/or points away from the official duty location. The ADL must have the necessary tools and environment to enable the teleworker to accomplish assigned duties.

3. Roles and Responsibilities.

3.1. The Adjutant General (TAG) or Commanding General (CG) is the approval authority for their respective state or territory. TAG/CG may delegate telework agreement approval down to the unit commander level (or equivalent).

3.2. The commander is responsible for supplying the use of Government-owned equipment and supplies for use by the teleworker. The decision to use appropriated funds to pay for equipment, services or supplies for the purposes of telework rests solely with the commander.

3.3. The immediate supervisor is responsible for:

3.3.1. Recommending the telework agreement to the approval authority.

3.3.2. Preparing required documents and obtaining any necessary signatures on Telework Agreement or Telework checklist forms.

3.3.3. Ensuring that the telework agreement (e.g., scope of work, deliverables, time schedules, etc.) are mutually agreed upon before beginning work.

3.3.4. Quality control of the teleworker's completed product.

3.3.5. Maintaining the original approved work agreement with a copy to the teleworker. Copies of all agreements should be given to unit Customer Support Staff (CSS) to incorporate into file plan.

3.3.6. Complete both manager and employee telework training.

3.4. Teleworker:

3.4.1. Teleworker agrees to adhere to the directed laws, policies, and procedures of the telework program. Teleworker recognizes that the telework arrangement is not a right but a complementary tool the ANG may use to accomplish work.

3.4.1.1. The teleworker will meet with the approval authority/supervisor to develop and/or amend performance agreements for work performed away from the official duty station. The teleworker will complete all assigned work according to work procedures mutually agreed upon by the teleworker and the approval authority/supervisor in the agreement.

3.4.1.2. Participation in telework does not change the teleworker's official duty work location.

3.4.1.3. Where applicable, the teleworker agrees to document and submit to the supervisor/approval authority for endorsement, any changes in the work agreement.

3.4.1.4. The teleworker must ensure that a safe and healthy work environment exists. If required by the supervisor/approval authority, the teleworker agrees to sign a self-certification checklist that proclaims the ADL is free of work-related safety and health hazards.

3.4.1.5. Any data, documents, or work products developed during telework are the sole property of the United States Government and will be prepared for filing in accordance with command guidance if it is to be a permanent record. All documents should be maintained in accordance with the system of record. The approval authority determines the telework portfolio.

3.4.1.6. During telework the supervisor/approval authority may check progress via telephone calls, electronic mail, or other available means.

3.4.1.7. The teleworker agrees not to conduct personal business while in official duty status at the ADL (e.g., caring for dependents, making home repairs, posting on social media websites, etc.).

3.4.1.8. The teleworker acknowledges that while teleworking, he/she is subject to the applicable laws, regulations and instructions during the duty hours specified relative to the duty status.

3.4.1.9. The teleworker agrees to protect any government-owned equipment, to prevent the use by others, and to use the equipment only for official purposes.

3.4.1.10. The teleworker agrees to install, service and maintain any privately owned equipment at the teleworker's sole risk and responsibility.

3.4.1.11. The teleworker must comply with DoD, AF, and ANG security procedures and ensure that security measures are in place to protect the equipment from damage, theft or access by unauthorized individuals.

3.4.1.12. The teleworker is responsible for providing security against loss due to malicious logic, physical or virus loss, theft, or damage. Anti-virus software is available for both government and privately owned computers.

3.4.1.13. Teleworkers must provide adequate and timely access to their ADL for troubleshooting, equipment installation, inventory, modification, etc., in the event an information handling incident is encountered and to ensure telecommunications guidelines are being followed.

3.4.1.14. Users will only access network resources through approved gateway protocols and methods such as Outlook Web Access 12 or Virtual Private Network gateways.

3.4.1.15. If teleworking is no longer required or appropriate, the teleworker must immediately return government-owned hardware, software, data and return all documents, project details and deliverables.

3.4.1.16. Complete employee telework training.

4. Compensation.

4.1. Teleworkers will be compensated in accordance with their pay grade and duty status. All teleworkers must comply with appropriate pay status regulations.

4.2. The approval authority will not authorize travel costs or per diem for telework.

4.3. The approval authority may authorize the performance of duties on an incrementally accrued schedule for teleworkers in a military status (NGB IMT 3630, Telework Duty Form). An example would be a JAG working in his or her civilian legal office and keeping track of time worked on issues for the commander.

4.4. There are no incidental expenses authorized in conjunction with telework. This includes any expenses for electricity, WIFI, cell phones, office furniture, or supplies.

5. Safety. Teleworkers are responsible for ensuring that their ADLs are safe. Teleworkers will report any injuries while teleworking to their supervisor immediately. The supervisor will follow line of duty reporting procedures for accidents or injuries in accordance with AFI 36-2910.

6. General Obligations.

6.1. Teleworkers are subject to applicable military laws, regulations and instructions.

6.1.1. Teleworkers must comply with the Personal Identifiable Information (PII), Controlled Unclassified Information (CUI), Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPPA), Operational Security (OPSEC), and all security regulations.

6.2. Teleworkers are responsible for providing telework equipment requirements to the supervisor.

6.3. Teleworkers must obtain the approving authority's concurrence before performing telework duties that exceed the terms or hours listed in the work agreement.

6.4. The approval authority, supervisor or teleworker may terminate participation in telework at any time. Note: This does not apply during Contingency Operations (COOP).

6.5. Telework will not be used for the sole purpose of upgrade training or Professional Military Education training. Service members will not be placed on orders for the sole purpose of performing PME. However, it is most certainly appropriate that Electronic-Based Distributed Learning tied to AF AFSC training to include skills based and upgrade training may be performed. Note: This prohibition is in accordance with 37 USC Section 206 (d) (1) Except as provided in paragraph (2), this section does not authorize compensation for work or study performed by a member of a reserve component or by a member of the National Guard while not in Federal service in connection with correspondence courses of a uniformed service. (2) A member of the Selected Reserve of the Ready Reserve may be paid compensation under this section at a rate and under terms determined by the Secretary of Defense, but not to exceed the rate otherwise applicable to the member under subsection (a), upon the member's successful completion of a course of instruction undertaken by the member using electronic-based distributed learning.

7. Agreements. The teleworker, supervisor and approval authority must sign a work agreement. Telework Agreement Sample - Attachment 2 (DD2946), ANG Teleworker and Supervisor Checklist Sample – Attachment 4 (NGB IMT 3631), before starting telework.

8. Miscellaneous.

8.1. Telework at an ADL will not replace or be used as a "work around" when normal leave rules should apply. Service Members assigned to a CONUS PDS (including AK, HI, and U.S. Territories) may not tele/remote work at an OCONUS location, nor may a Service Member assigned to an OCONUS location telework at a CONUS location. OCONUS unit commanders should consult with their servicing JA office to ensure SOFA compliance before approving telework arrangements outside the vicinity of the PDS.

8.1.1. Commanders will carefully consider the time period necessary for telework outside the local area or away from the member's permanent duty station on a case-by-case basis and should approve such an arrangement for no longer than is necessary. Commanders should consider allowing members to travel to the ADL on a non-duty day, i.e. on a Saturday, Sunday, or alternate non-duty day for members who work a shift. Ultimately, commanders must maintain accountability of their service members at all times and should further consider approving the ADL via memo in the event a Line of Duty Determination is necessary. Travel to and from the ADL is at the Service Member's own expense.

8.2. Personnel will be entitled to the same protections and indemnification under the Federal Tort Claims Act as would be available if the services provided herein were provided at the unit during a Regularly Scheduled Drill (RSD) or during scheduled active duty.

8.3. Wear of the uniform during performance of duty set forth in this instruction is at the approval authority discretion.

8.4. Personnel falsely certifying documents under this instruction are subject to punishment and/or administrative action.

Section B—Equipment

9. Government Equipment.

9.1. Subject to prescribed rules and limitations, a commander may place government-owned computers, computer software, and telecommunications equipment (hereafter referred to as equipment) in ADLs.

9.2. The commander retains ownership and control of all hardware, software and data associated with, or generated by, government-owned systems. The commander must account for equipment and inventory all equipment annually. The commander must notify the Equipment Control Officer (ECO) of the relocation of the equipment.

9.3. Government equipment is intended FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY (FOUO). Commanders may authorize installation, repair and/or maintenance of equipment at their discretion and direction. The equipment is for authorized use by the teleworker only.

9.4. Teleworkers must comply with all government security procedures and ensure that security measures are in place to protect equipment and data from physical and electronic corruption, theft, loss or access by unauthorized individuals.

9.4. 1 Teleworkers must adhere to all rules governing classified activities. This instruction does not govern classified materials. In the event, teleworkers expect to be working on classified matters, the authorizing commander must ensure official guidance on classified material is adhered to.

9.5. Report of Survey procedures must be followed if government equipment is damaged, lost or stolen.

9.6. Government information must be protected from modification, destruction or inappropriate release.

9.7. If telework is no longer required or appropriate, the teleworker must immediately return government-owned hardware, software, supplies, and data.

9.8. The authorizing official assumes responsibility for providing any government network or computer equipment. Authorizing officials are not responsible for and will not assume personal costs of telework such as teleworker's home telephone or internet services.

10. Privately Owned Equipment. Government equipment should be provided for frequent telework or when full network services are required. Privately owned equipment may be used intermittently for public network services (e.g., e-mail via Outlook Web Access) under exceptional circumstances provided that:

10.1. User agrees to install, service, and maintain (at their own risk and expense) any privately owned equipment or services.

10.2. The government does not incur any liability or assume any costs resulting from the misuse, loss, theft or destruction (to include computer viruses) of privately-owned equipment, resources or data.

10.3. Use of DoD provided anti-virus software is required unless user already has current and updated commercial anti-virus software in place.

10.4. Any removable media used to store government data must be marked in accordance with all DoD requirements. (i.e., PII, CUI, FOR OFFICIAL USE ONLY, etc.)

10.5. Government information is protected from modification, destruction, misuse or inappropriate release. Users must control access to systems in use until appropriately cleared per Paragraph 10.6.

10.6. User must remove sensitive residual government information from privately owned systems using an approved data removal method when the session is terminated. This includes but is not limited to deleting documents, emails, and all attachments; emptying recycle bin; deleting cookies, and emptying caches.

10.7. User will only access network resources through approved gateway protocols and methods such as Outlook Web Access. Personal email servers such as: Yahoo mail, Gmail, Hotmail, or any other personal emails are not authorized for government work.

10.8. In the event privately owned equipment is produced for troubleshooting, installation, inventory, modification, etc. after an information handling incident, all efforts must be made to protect attorney work-product and any/all privileged communications.

10.9. Teleworkers shall not “auto-forward” e-mails from government to non-government accounts as e-mail containing sensitive information may not transit public networks without appropriate encryption. E-mail and attachments may be manually forwarded after review if no sensitive information is included. This may also prevent inadvertent transmission of classified information in the event such an incident occurs on the unclassified network. Teleworkers may establish an auto-reply rule to provide those wishing to contact them with alternate contact information.

Section C—Accountability

11. Documentation.

11.1. The approval authority will sign all required agreements before the telework is authorized.

11.2. The teleworker must submit pay documentation in a timely manner. The approval authority reviews the telework documentation prior to signing pay documents. The approval authority indicates agreement by signing the appropriate pay documents (e.g., NGB 105S, Authorization for Individual Inactive Duty Training, etc.). (This paragraph only applies to Drill Status Guardsmen). AGR members are exempt from submitting pay documents.
