PART 1

Preface

1. This CFETP is a comprehensive education and training document that identifies life cycle education and training requirements, training support resources, and minimum core task requirements for this specialty. This CFETP provides personnel with a clear career path to success and instills rigor in all aspects of career field training. Note: Civilians occupying associated positions use Part 2 to support duty position qualification training.

1.1. This CFETP consists of two parts; supervisors plan, manage, and control training within the specialty using both parts of the plan.

1.1.1. Part 1 provides information necessary for overall management of the specialty. Section A explains how individuals will use the plan; Section B identifies career field progression information, duties and responsibilities, training strategies, and career field path; Section C associates each level with specialty qualifications (knowledge, education, experience, training, and other); and Section D indicates resource constraints. Some examples are funds, manpower, equipment, facilities; Section E identifies transition training guide requirements for E-5 through E-7.

1.1.2. Part 2 includes the following: Section A: identifies the STS and includes duties, tasks, proficiency codes to support training, AETC conducted training, wartime course and core task and correspondence course requirements. Section B: contains the course objective list and training standards supervisors use to determine if service members satisfied training requirements. Section C: identifies available support materials. An example is a qualification training package, which may be developed to support proficiency training; Section D: identifies a training course index supervisors can use to determine resources available to support training. Included here are both mandatory and optional courses; Section E: identifies MAJCOM unique training requirements supervisors can use to determine additional training required for the associated qualification needs. At unit level, supervisors and trainers use Part 2 to identify, plan, and conduct training commensurate with the overall goals of this plan.

1.2. Using CFETP guidance ensures individuals in this specialty receive effective and efficient training at the appropriate points in their career. This plan enables us to train today's work force for tomorrow's jobs.

Abbreviations/Terms Explained

This section provides a common understanding of the terms that apply to the Human Resources and Administration (HRA) CFETP.

A1 (Deputy Chief of Staff for Manpower, Personnel and Services). The Headquarters Air Force directorate responsible for manpower, personnel, and services policy. A1 shapes doctrine, training, and personnel systems that directly guide HRA operations across the Total Force.

Advanced Training (AT). Formal courses designed to build on initial skills training and prepare Airmen for technical or supervisory responsibilities. AT is typically reserved for select personnel who require advanced expertise in their Air Force Specialty (AFS). For HRA, this may include advanced courses in personnel systems management, manpower analysis, or leadership development.

AF Okta. AF Okta is the Air Force's enterprise identity and access management solution that provides secure single sign-on (SSO) and multi-factor authentication (MFA) for accessing official personnel, administrative, and mission systems. It enables Airmen, Guardians, and civilians to log in once and seamlessly access multiple platforms such as AMS, BLSDM, myVector, and vMPF, while ensuring compliance with Department of War (DoW) cybersecurity standards. For HRA professionals, AF Okta is essential because it underpins secure access to the digital tools required for personnel management, policy execution, and force development, reducing login complexity while safeguarding sensitive data. https://af.okta.mil/

AFPC Force Support Onelink. Force Support Onelink is the Air Force Personnel Center's (AFPC) centralized digital portal that consolidates access to personnel, manpower, and services resources in one location. It provides commanders, HRAs, and Airmen with quick links to policy guidance, tools, and systems such as myFSS, myVector, and assignment management platforms. For HRA professionals, Onelink serves as a critical knowledge hub, reducing time spent searching across multiple sites and ensuring personnel actions are executed with the most current information and resources available.
https://usaf.dps.mil/teams/AFPCMilitaryOneLink2/SitePages/Home.aspx

Air and Space Expeditionary Force (AEF). The Air Force's legacy force presentation model for organizing, training, equipping, and deploying forces. It ensures predictable deployment cycles and balances operational tempo. HRA professionals support AEF by maintaining accurate accountability, readiness reporting, and deployment documentation. (see Air Force Force Generation (AFFORGEN))

Air and Space Expeditionary Task Force (AETF). The Air Force's primary warfighting organization presented to a Joint Forces Commander. AETFs are tailored packages of forces, and HRA personnel ensure accountability, casualty reporting, and personnel support functions are sustained throughout operations.

Air Education Training Command (AETC). Responsible for recruiting, training, and educating Airmen. For HRA, AETC develops and delivers technical training courses, professional military education, and continuing education programs that shape the career field.

Air Force Career Development Academy (AFCDA). The AFCDA, located at Keesler AFB, develops and distributes Career Development Courses (CDCs) that provide the knowledge portion of enlisted upgrade training. It ensures course content is accurate, standardized, and aligned with Air Force doctrine and specialty training standards, directly supporting HRA Airmen as they progress through skill levels.

Air Force Career Field Manager (AFCFM). The senior enlisted leader at HQ USAF responsible for ensuring the HRA career field is trained, equipped, and utilized to meet mission requirements. The AFCFM sets policy, identifies core tasks, and works with MAJCOMs to align training with doctrine.

Air Force Force Generation (AFFORGEN). AFFORGEN is the Air Force's model for presenting ready forces to the Joint Force in a predictable, sustainable cycle. It replaces the legacy Air Expeditionary Force (AEF) construct with a four-phase cycle—Reset, Prepare, Certify, and Available to Commit—designed to balance readiness, force availability, and Airmen resilience. AFFORGEN ensures units have time to recover from deployments, train to required standards, and certify readiness before being tasked again. For HRA professionals, AFFORGEN drives personnel accountability, deployment readiness tracking, and force presentation responsibilities, making accurate data management and commander support essential to sustaining the model.

Air Force Job Qualification Standard/Command Job Qualification Standard (AFJQS/ CJQS). Comprehensive task lists describing duty positions. Supervisors use them to document task qualifications. In HRA, AFJQS/CJQS ensure Airmen are trained to standard in personnel programs, administrative duties, and deployment tasks.

Air Force Occupational Analysis (AFOA). Provides objective data on tasks performed across AFSCs through surveys and analysis. This data informs training decisions, course development, and manpower requirements. HRA leaders use AFOA reports to validate training needs and adjust programs.

Air Force Portal. The Air Force's secure intranet, providing access to personnel systems, applications, and collaboration tools. https://www.my.af.mil

Air Force Qualification Training Package (AFQTP). Instructional packages used at the unit level to qualify Airmen in duty positions or programs. AFQTPs may be computer-based or print and are critical for standardizing training across installations.

Air Force Specialty (AFS). A group of positions requiring common qualifications. The HRA AFS (3F0X1) encompasses personnel and administrative duties, merging legacy specialties to create a unified career field.

Air Force Tactics, Techniques and Procedures (AFTTP). Operational methods that implement joint doctrine. While often associated with combat operations, AFTTPs also guide support functions like personnel accountability in deployed environments.

Air Reserve Component (ARC). The collective term for the Air National Guard (ANG) and Air Force Reserve (AFR). ARC members balance civilian and military service, and HRAs ensure their personnel actions, entitlements, and readiness requirements are managed consistently with the Active Component.

Air Reserve Order Writing System (AROWS). Web-based system used to generate orders for ARC members. HRA personnel in ARC units use AROWS to manage duty status, orders, and pay entitlements.

Air University Associate-to-Baccalaureate Cooperative (AU ABC). Education initiative allowing Airmen to apply CCAF credits toward a bachelor's degree. HRA professionals advise Airmen on AU ABC opportunities as part of force development and education counseling.

Arming Use of Force (AUoF). Program requiring continuous evaluation of Security Forces personnel performing armed duties. While not an HRA-specific program, HRAs may track AUoF status in personnel systems to ensure compliance.

Assignment Management System (AMS). Online platform for assignment preferences and career management.

Automated Records Management System (ARMS). Provides access to Unit Personnel Record Group (UPRG) documents. HRAs use ARMS to maintain personnel records, verify documentation, and support career development actions.

Base Functional Manager (BFM). Installation-level manager responsible for the HRA community. BFMs oversee training, resource allocation, and career development for HRA Airmen at their duty location (DLOC).

Base Level Service Delivery Model (BLSDM). System providing commanders with personnel data queries, rosters, and reports. HRAs use BLSDM to generate products for decision-making and to track personnel actions.

Career Development Course (CDC). Self-paced study materials that deliver the knowledge component of upgrade training, complementing on-the-job training (OJT). CDCs are mandatory for skill-level progression and ensure HRA Airmen gain the technical expertise required for their career field.

Career Field Education and Training Plan (CFETP). The core training document for each AFSC. For HRA, the CFETP outlines training requirements, career progression, and core tasks, ensuring Airmen receive standardized, effective training.

Case Management System (CMS). Tracks, resolves, and reports HR system-related cases. HRAs use CMS to escalate issues that cannot be resolved at base level, ensuring accountability and oversight.

Certification. Formal recognition that an individual can perform a task to standard. Certification is documented in training records and ensures Airmen are mission-ready.

Certifying Official. Commander-appointed individual responsible for verifying task proficiency. In HRA, certifiers ensure Airmen meet standards in personnel and administrative tasks.

Chief Enlisted Manager (CEM) Code. Identifies CMSgt positions and denotes senior enlisted leaders with broad managerial responsibilities.

Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and High-Yield Explosive (CBRNE) Task Qualification Training (TQT). Training ensuring Airmen can perform mission-critical tasks in a CBRNE environment. HRAs must maintain readiness to operate personnel accountability and casualty reporting functions under these conditions.

Commander Programs. Additional responsibilities assigned at unit level (e.g., voting assistance, awards, fitness program). HRAs often manage these programs, ensuring compliance and reporting.

Commander Support Staff (CSS). A unit-level function that delivers administrative and personnel support to commanders and Airmen, including evaluations, decorations, training, and readiness. For HRAs, CSS duties are often the most visible, requiring accuracy, system proficiency, and direct advisory support to leadership.

Competency. A measurable cluster of knowledge, skills, abilities, and behaviors required for effective performance. The Department of the Air Force (DAF) is transitioning to a competency-based framework for force development, ensuring Airmen are prepared not only for technical tasks but also for leadership and operational challenges. For HRA, competencies include communication, problem-solving, readiness management, and human-centered service delivery.

Computer Based Training (CBT). Training delivered electronically, allowing Airmen to complete courses at their own pace. HRAs may administer CBTs for personnel systems or readiness requirements.

Continuation Training. Advanced training beyond upgrade requirements, often tailored to future duty assignments. For HRA, this may include advanced manpower analysis or deployment readiness courses.

Core Task. Tasks identified by the AFCFM as minimum qualification requirements for all Airmen in the AFSC. Core tasks ensure standardization across the career field.

Cross Utilization Training (CUT). Training that qualifies Airmen to perform tasks outside their awarded AFSC. HRAs may receive CUT in related specialties to support contingency operations.

DAF eLearning. DAF eLearning is the enterprise online training platform that provides Airmen, Guardians, and civilians access to thousands of web-based courses, certifications, and professional development resources. It offers content ranging from leadership and management to technical and IT skills, supporting both mission readiness and individual growth. For HRA professionals, DAF eLearning is a key tool for tracking and promoting continuous learning, ensuring Airmen have access to self-paced development opportunities that align with force development goals and career progression requirements. https://usaf.percipio.com/

Force development integrates institutional competencies, career progression, and developmental opportunities. HRAs play a key role in advising commanders and Airmen on force development pathways, ensuring alignment with DAFI 36-2670, Total Force Development.

Functional Area Manager (FAM). The individual responsible for managing personnel and equipment within a specific functional area to support operational planning and execution. HRA FAMs develop policy, manage Unit Type Codes (UTCs), and monitor readiness reporting to ensure the career field can meet contingency requirements.

Functional Manager (FM). An individual assigned responsibility for training, classification, utilization, and career development of personnel within a functional community. For HRA, FMs at MAJCOM or HQ levels ensure consistency in training and utilization across the enterprise.

Gamechanger. An AI-enabled knowledge management platform that rapidly analyzes and retrieves policy, guidance, and doctrine. HRAs use Gamechanger to interpret personnel policy, align local practices with higher-level guidance, and provide commanders with accurate, up-to-date information. https://gamechanger.advana.data.mil/

Go. Indicates that an Airman has demonstrated sufficient skill, knowledge, and experience to perform a task without supervision. Supervisors document "Go" status in training records, certifying readiness for independent duty.

Human Resources. The management of personnel and manpower programs that directly support the mission. HRAs analyze policy, update personnel systems, resolve data mismatches, and provide commanders with accurate information for decision-making. This function ensures the human element remains central to mission success.

Initial Skills Training (IST). The formal technical school course that results in award of the 3-skill level for enlisted Airmen. For HRA, IST provides foundational knowledge of personnel systems, administrative processes, and customer service skills.

Official Mail Center (OMC). The OMC is the installation's central hub for processing, distributing, and safeguarding official mail, managing all incoming and outgoing correspondence designated as government business while ensuring compliance with DOW and DAF postal regulations. Distinct from personal postal services, the OMC focuses exclusively on mission-related communication, and HRA professionals may be responsible for verifying proper postage use, ensuring correct addressing and endorsements, safeguarding sensitive or classified material, and coordinating with USPS or host-nation postal authorities. Effective OMC operations directly support commanders by enabling timely decision-making, maintaining accountability of official communications, and protecting the integrity of government resources.

On-the-Job Training (OJT). Hands-on training conducted to certify personnel in upgrade and duty qualification tasks. OJT is the backbone of HRA skill development at the unit level.

Oracle Training Administration (OTA). A system linking units for planning, controlling, and funding formal training. HRAs use OTA to manage TDY-to-school programs and track training allocations.

Personnel Reliability Assurance Program (PRAP). The overarching designation for nuclear reliability programs, ensuring personnel with nuclear responsibilities meet strict standards. HRAs track PRAP status in personnel systems.

Personnel Reliability Program (PRP). A program ensuring only reliable personnel perform duties associated with nuclear weapons and systems. HRAs manage PRP records and continuous evaluation requirements.

Personnel Support for Contingency Operations (PERSCO). The deployed mission of the HRA career field, focusing on accountability and casualty reporting. HRAs assigned to PERSCO teams ensure accurate force tracking in theater.

Position Qualification Training. Training designed to qualify an Airman in a specific duty position after upgrade training is complete. This ensures Airmen are proficient in the unique tasks of their assigned role. For HRA, this may include specialized training in commander programs, IPR operations, or system administration duties.

Postal. The Air Force Postal Program provides secure, timely mail support worldwide, including personal and official correspondence. HRAs may manage postal operations in CONUS, OCONUS, and deployed environments, ensuring compliance with regulations and sustaining morale and mission readiness.

Qualifications Flight (Q-Flight). The organization responsible for authoring, producing, and revising Air Force Job Qualification Standards (AFJQSs) and Air Force Qualification Training Packages (AFQTPs). Q-Flight ensures training products are accurate, standardized, and aligned with Instructional Systems Development (ISD) principles. HRAs rely on these products to deliver consistent training across the force.

Qualification Training (QT). Hands-on performance training designed to qualify an Airman in a specific position. QT occurs both during and after upgrade training to maintain proficiency. For HRA, QT may include processing evaluations in myEval, managing casualty reporting in DCAPES, or administering commander programs.

Qualification Training Package (QTP). Instructional packages used at the unit level to qualify Airmen in duty positions, programs, or on equipment. QTPs may be computer-based, printed, or audiovisual. For HRA, QTPs provide standardized training on systems such as MilPDS or myFSS.

Readiness Reporting (DRRS/ART). The Defense Readiness Reporting System (DRRS) and the AEF Reporting Tool (ART) are systems used to assess and report unit readiness. HRAs provide critical personnel data inputs, ensuring commanders have accurate visibility of force availability. Accurate readiness reporting enables the Air Force to present forces to combatant commanders with confidence.

Satellite Personnel Activity (SPA). A small extension of a Military Personnel Flight (MPF), typically consisting of 2–7 personnel, servicing geographically separated units (GSU). HRAs assigned to SPAs provide essential personnel services to Airmen at remote locations, ensuring access to the same support as larger bases.

Specialty Training. The total training process used to qualify Airmen in their assigned specialty. For HRA, this includes initial skills training, upgrade training, qualification training, and continuation training, ensuring Airmen are fully prepared for their duties.

Specialty Training Standard (STS). An Air Force publication describing an AFSC in terms of tasks and knowledge expected at each skill level. The STS also identifies which tasks are taught in formal schools and which are left to OJT. For HRA, the STS serves as the contract between AETC and the functional community.

Talent Marketplace. The online platform used to match officers and enlisted Airmen, with assignments based on preferences, qualifications, and Air Force needs. Talent Marketplace increases transparency in the assignment process and empowers Airmen to have a voice in their career trajectory. HRAs guide Airmen in navigating Talent Marketplace, ensuring preferences are aligned with career development and mission requirements.
https://myvector.us.af.mil/myvector/TalentMarketplace/Home

Task Certifier. Also known as a Certifying Official, this is the individual designated to verify that an Airman can perform a task to standard. Task certifiers play a critical role in ensuring training quality and mission readiness.

Task Management Tool (TMT). A web-based system used to manage taskings, routing, and coordination across organizations. HRAs use TMT to track suspense items, staff packages, and ensure timely completion of personnel actions.

Task Module (TM). A group of related tasks within an AFSC that require common knowledge, skills, and abilities. TMs help structure training and ensure Airmen develop proficiency in logical clusters of tasks. For HRA, TMs may include "Personnel Accountability," "Evaluations Management," or "Deployment Readiness."

Task Qualification Training (TQT). Training conducted after classroom instruction in which Airmen perform wartime mission-essential tasks in a simulated environment, often while wearing protective equipment. For HRA, TQT ensures personnel can maintain accountability, casualty reporting, and sustainment functions in a CBRNE or contested environment.

TEMPO Management Tracking System (TMTS). A web application assisting commanders and duty status managers with tracking and managing PERSTEMPO (personnel tempo) events such as TDYs. HRAs use TMTS to monitor deployments, ensure compliance with PERSTEMPO limits, and provide commanders with accurate data on force availability.

Total Force (TF). The collective term for all Air Force components: Active Duty, Air National Guard, Air Force Reserve, and civilian personnel. For HRA professionals, understanding the Total Force is critical because policies, entitlements, and training must be applied consistently across all components. HRAs ensure equitable support for Airmen and Guardians regardless of status, enabling seamless integration in both peacetime and contingency operations.

Total Force Service Center (TFSC). A consolidated operation providing 24/7 personnel services to the entire Air Force. Staffed by customer service experts and supported by smart tools, the TFSC delivers high-quality, standardized support. The TFSC for the Active Component is located at the Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC), Joint Base San Antonio-Randolph, while the ANG and AFR TFSC is located at the Air Reserve Personnel Center (ARPC), Buckley AFB, CO. HRAs leverage

TFSC resources to resolve complex personnel issues, provide reach-back support, and ensure commanders and Airmen receive timely assistance.

Trainer. A trained and qualified individual who teaches Airmen to perform specific tasks using on-the-job training (OJT) methods. Trainers must be certified in the tasks they teach. The term also refers to equipment used to facilitate training. In HRA, trainers are essential for developing proficiency in personnel systems, administrative processes, and readiness tasks.

Training Capability. The ability of a unit or base to provide training, determined by the availability of qualified trainers, equipment, facilities, and reference materials. HRAs assess training capability when planning upgrade or qualification training to ensure Airmen can meet CFETP requirements. Limited training capability may require coordination with other units, detachments, or formal schools.

Training Planning Team (TPT). A working group composed of the same personnel as a Utilization and Training Workshop (U&TW), but with a more focused role in training development. TPTs address a broader range of issues in greater detail than U&TWs, often shaping course content, sequencing, and delivery methods. For HRA, TPTs ensure training reflects current systems, doctrine, and operational requirements.

Training Session. Instruction conducted on a task using technical data when no formal course exists to support it. Training sessions are often developed locally to address unique mission needs or emerging requirements. HRAs may conduct training sessions on new personnel systems, updated policies, or commander programs.

United States Space Force (USSF). A separate military service under the Department of the Air Force, responsible for organizing, training, and equipping forces to conduct space operations. HRAs may support USSF personnel in joint bases or integrated organizations, ensuring consistent personnel services across both services.

Upgrade Training (UGT). Mandatory training required for Airmen to progress to the next skill level in their AFSC. UGT includes Career Development Courses (CDCs), OJT, and task certification. For HRA, UGT ensures Airmen develop progressively from apprentice (3-level) to journeyman (5-level), craftsman (7-level), and superintendent (9-level), building both technical expertise and leadership capacity.

Utilization and Training Workshop (U&TW). A forum bringing together MAJCOM functional managers, Subject Matter Experts (SMEs), and AETC training personnel to determine career ladder training requirements. U&TWs validate and update the CFETP, ensuring training remains aligned with mission needs. For HRA, U&TWs are critical to keeping training current with evolving personnel systems and policies.

Virtual Military Personnel Flight (vMPF). The online portal providing Airmen access to their personnel records, career options, and self-service requests. vMPF is the starting point for many personnel actions, including assignments, promotions, and separations. HRAs guide Airmen in using vMPF effectively and troubleshoot issues when system errors occur.

Wartime Task. Tasks identified for accelerated instruction in a wartime environment. In contingency scenarios, training pipelines are streamlined, and wartime tasks are taught in the 3-level course to rapidly prepare Airmen for operational requirements. For HRA, wartime tasks include personnel accountability, casualty reporting, and sustainment of essential personnel services under austere conditions.

Section A – General Information

2. Purpose. This CFETP provides the information necessary for CFMs, MFMs, commanders, UTMs, supervisors and trainers to plan, develop, manage, and conduct an effective and efficient career field training program. This plan outlines the training individuals in this Air Force specialty should receive to develop and progress throughout their career. This plan identifies initial skills, upgrade, qualification, advanced and proficiency training. Initial skills training is the Air Force specialty specific training an individual receives upon entry into the Air Force or upon retraining into this specialty for award of the 3-skill level. Normally, this training is conducted by AETC at one of the technical training centers. Upgrade training identifies the mandatory courses, task qualification requirements, and correspondence course completion requirements for award of the 3-, 5-, 7-, 9-skill level. Qualification training is actual hands-on task performance training designed to qualify a member in a specific duty position. This training program occurs both during and after the upgrade training process. It is designed to provide the performance skills and knowledge required to do the job. Advanced training is formal specialty training used for selected service members. Proficiency training is additional training, either in-residence or exportable advanced training courses, or OJT provided to personnel to increase their skills and knowledge beyond the minimum required for upgrade. The CFETP has several purposes:

2.1. Serves as a management tool to plan, manage, conduct, and evaluate a career field's training program. Also, it is used to help supervisors identify training at the appropriate point in an individual's career.

2.2. Identifies task and knowledge training requirements for each skill-level in the specialty and recommends education and training throughout each phase of an individual's career.

2.3. Lists training courses available in the specialty, identifies sources of training, and the training delivery method.

2.4. Identifies major resource constraints that impact full implementation of the desired career field training process.

3. Uses. The plan is used by MFMs, BFMs, flight chiefs, superintendents, and supervisors at all levels to ensure comprehensive and cohesive training programs are available for everyone in the specialty.

3.1. AETC training personnel develop or revise formal resident, nonresident, field, and exportable training based upon requirements established by the users and documented in Part 2 of this CFETP. They also work with the AFCFM to develop acquisition strategies for obtaining resources needed to provide identified training.

3.2. MFMs ensure their training programs complement the CFETP mandatory initial, upgrade, and proficiency requirements. OJT, resident training, contract training, or exportable courses can satisfy identified requirements. Ensure MAJCOM-developed training to support this AFSC is identified for inclusion into the plan.

3.3. Each individual completes the mandatory training requirements specified in this plan. The list of courses in Part 2 is used as a reference to support training.

3.4. 81 TRSS/TSQ Qualification Training Flight (Q-Flight) personnel develop training packages (AFJQSs/AFQTPs) based on requests submitted by the MAJCOMs and according to the priorities assigned by the AFCFM.

3.5. Submit recommended CFETP corrections to the 81 TRSS Q-Flight Customer Service Desk at 81 TRSS/TSQS, 601 D Street, Keesler AFB MS 39534-2235 or call DSN (312) 597-3343. To contact electronically, send email to qflight.customer.service@us.af.mil.

4. Air Force Occupational Competency Model Transition. The Air Force Occupational Competency Model (OCM) provides a standardized framework for identifying and developing the knowledge, skills, abilities, and behaviors required for mission success across all career fields. This model emphasizes competency-based progression, aligning training and education with operational demands and force development priorities. As part of the transition to the OCM, this CFETP has been updated to incorporate occupational competencies that reflect the full spectrum of performance expectations for this career field. These competencies are integrated throughout the training continuum to ensure Airmen develop not only task-level proficiency, but also the critical thinking, leadership, and adaptability required in complex operational environments. The inclusion of these competencies supports deliberate development and enables Airmen to succeed in both current and future roles across the HRA career field and the Air Force enterprise.

Table 1. HRA Occupational Competency Model

| Human Resource and Administration (3F0X1) Occupational Competency Model | | |

5. Coordination and Approval. The AFCFM is the approval authority. Also, the AFCFM will initiate an annual review of this document to ensure currency and accuracy. MAJCOM representatives and AETC training personnel will identify and coordinate on career field training requirements. Using the list of courses in Part 2 ensures elimination of duplicate training.

The spectrum includes a strategy for when, where, and how to meet the training requirements. The strategy should be apparent and affordable to reduce duplication of training and eliminate a disjointed approach to training. Training decisions were made by the AFCFM and MAJCOM Functional Managers from both the Administration and Personnel career fields during the 2025 STRT.

9. Community College of the Air Force (CCAF). Enrollment in the CCAF of the Air Force occurs upon completion of BMT. CCAF provides the opportunity to obtain an associate of applied sciences degree. In addition to its associate degree program, CCAF offers a number of certifications that can be found in their CCAF general catalog.

9.1. Degree Requirements. All service members are automatically entered into the CCAF program. Prior to completing an associate degree, the 5-level must be awarded, and the following requirements must be met:

necessary to maintain accreditation through the Southern Association of Colleges and schools Commission on Colleges.

10.1. Professional Credentialing. Credentialing assists the professional development of enlisted Airmen and Guardians by broadening their knowledge and skills. Blending Air and Space Force technical training and education with industry-based skill sets and professional credentialing processes benefits the Air Force by molding more diverse and qualified technicians to maintain critical and valuable national defense assets. Enlisted Airmen and Guardians benefit by being provided the education and credentials needed by highly technical Air and Space Force career fields. Review the CCAF General Catalog for additional information. The CCAF General Catalog can be accessed via the Air University's Community College of the Air Force site https://www.airuniversity.af.edu/Barnes/CCAF/. In addition to the associate degree program, CCAF offers the following certificate programs and resources:

10.1.1. CCAF Instructor Certification (CIC) Program. CCAF offers the CIC Program for qualified faculty who teach CCAF collegiate-level credit-awarding courses at a CCAF off-campus instructional site. The CIC is a professional credential that recognizes the faculty member's extensive faculty development training, education, and qualification required to teach a CCAF course, and formally acknowledges the faculty member's practical teaching experience.

10.1.2. CCAF Instructional Systems Development (ISD) Certification Program. CCAF offers the Instructional Systems Development (ISD) Certification for qualified course/curriculum developers, writers and managers who are formally assigned to an off-campus instructional site to develop/write and manage CCAF collegiate-level credit awarding courses. Section D – Resource Constraints

13. Purpose. This section identifies known resource constraints impacting the development and delivery of optimal training within the HRA career field. Constraints include limitations in cost, manpower, and course development timelines. Each constraint is accompanied by an impact statement, required resources, and recommended actions. The OPR and target completion dates are also provided. This section will be reviewed and updated annually.

13.1. Apprentice Level Training.

13.1.1. Constraints. The HRA Apprentice Course (E3ABR3F031 0H1A) is currently under development and is scheduled for implementation in early 2026. Until then, the Administration Apprentice (E3AQR3F531 00AA) and Postal Operations Courses (E3ABR3F531 00AD) or the Personnel Apprentice Course (E3ABR3F031 0A1C), will serve as the 3-level awarding courses for the HRA career field until the new course is launched.

13.1.2. Impact. Trainees may receive inconsistent foundational training due to differences in legacy course content. This may affect early skill development and standardization across the merged career field.

13.1.3. Resources Required. Meeting this requirement will require curriculum development support, instructional manpower, training for updated course design and delivery, and coordination.

13.1.4. Action Required. To address this constraint, the HRA IST curriculum must be finalized and validated.

13.1.5. OPR and Target Completion Date. The OPRs are the 335 TRS and the HRA CFM Team, with a target completion date of early 2026.

13.2. Journeyman Level Training.

13.2.1. Constraints. Legacy 5-level courses for Administration and Personnel are scheduled for deactivation on 31 December 2025. The new HRA 5-level course is under development by AFCDA and is expected to be completed mid to late 2026.

13.2.1.1. Impact. A potential training gap may occur between course deactivation and implementation, which could affect upgrade timelines and skill development for journeyman-level personnel.

13.2.1.2. Resources Required. To meet this requirement, accelerated course development support is needed.

13.2.1.3. Action Required. To resolve this constraint, development of the HRA 5-level course must be expedited, interim OJT upgrade training, and coordination with AFCDA and AETC must be maintained for implementation.

13.2.2. OPR and Target Completion Date. The OPRs are AFCDA and the HRA CFM Team, with a target completion date of September 2026.

13.3. Craftsman Level Training.

13.3.1. Constraints. Legacy 7-level courses for Administration and Personnel are scheduled for deactivation on 31 December 2025. The new HRA 7-level course is under development by AFCDA and is expected to be completed mid to late 2026.

13.3.1.1. Impact. A gap in formal training may delay upgrade progression and readiness for supervisory roles during the transition period.

13.3.1.2. Resources Required. To meet this requirement, accelerated course development support is needed.

13.3.1.3. Action Required. To resolve this constraint, development of the HRA 5-level course must be expedited, interim OJT upgrade training, and coordination with AFCDA and AETC must be maintained for implementation.

13.3.2. OPR and Target Completion Date. The OPRs are AFCDA and the HRA CFM Team, with a target completion date of September 2026.

Section E – Transitional Training Guide

14. Purpose. This guide establishes the framework to prepare HRA personnel for the evolving demands of the 21st century. Effective planning and execution of transitional training will ensure readiness and continuity across the merged career field.

15. Conditions.

15.2. Target Group. All enlisted personnel in the Administration and Personnel career fields are transitioning to HRA and included, specifically those at the 3-, 5-, and 7-skill levels. Upgrade and proficiency training requirements will be aligned with the merged CFETP.

16. Transition Training Plan Administration. The transition plan will be implemented and managed by the HRA CFM Team in coordination with MAJCOM MFMs. Oversight includes monitoring progress, resolving training gaps, and ensuring alignment with CFETP Part 2, Section A. The Specialty Training Plan should be utilized by MFMs, BFMs, and MPF Flight Chiefs to guide and execute local training programs.

16.1. Requirements. Training requirements will be derived from CFETP Part 2, Section A and tailored to reflect merged career field competencies.

17. Training Methods. Training will be delivered through a combination of IHT and OJT. Group composition may be limited based on installation resources and mission requirements.

17.1. Certification Requirements. Trainers and certifiers must meet qualifications outlined in DAFMAN 36-2689, Training Program and be designated by the unit commander or training manager.

17.2. Program Management. Training will be tracked and documented in the designated training platform (e.g., myLearning, TBA 2.0, etc.).

17.3. Status Reporting. BFMs will report transition training status to their MFMs quarterly by the 5th duty day of February, May, August, and November. MFMs will report to the AFCFM semiannually by the 15th of May and November.

17.4. Recommendations. Unsatisfactory performance of individual course graduates or issues with technical training should be reported to the respective Training Group (TRG) using the DSN or email listed in CFETP Part 2, Section A. Reports should reference specific STS paragraphs and include detailed performance concerns.

PART 2

Section A – Specialty Training Standard (STS)

1. Implementation. This STS is used for technical training provided by AETC for classes beginning in 2026 and graduating in 2026.

2. Purpose. As prescribed in DAFMAN 36-2689, this STS:

2.1. Lists, in column 1, the most common tasks, knowledge, and technical references (TR) necessary for service members to perform duties in the 3-, 5-, 7-, and 9-skill level.

2.2. Identifies, in column 2, core tasks by skill level. Tasks identified with a number "5" are required for 5-level UGT. Tasks identified with a number "7" are required for 7-level UGT. The Readiness Section and/or UDM will schedule training for personnel tasked to fill a deployed training position, as required.

2.3. Provides, in column 3, certification for OJT by documenting completion of tasks and knowledge training requirements. Use automated training management systems to document technician qualifications, as applicable.

2.4. Shows, in column 4, formal training and correspondence course requirements by listing the proficiency to be demonstrated on the job by the graduate as a result of training on the task and the career knowledge provided by the corresponding course.

2.5. Contains, in Table 5, the behavioral statement codes used to indicate the level of training and knowledge provided by resident training and career development courses.

2.6. Is used to document task completion when placed in the DAF Form 623, Individual Training Record, and used according to DAFMAN 36-2689. CFETP documentation shall be IAW DAFMAN 36-2689 or any subsequent messages.

2.7. Is a guide for development of promotion tests used in the Weighted Airman Promotion System (WAPS). Specialty Knowledge Tests (SKT) are developed at the USAF AETC Airmen Advancement Division by senior noncommissioned officers with extensive practical experience in their career fields. SKTs are developed by subject matter experts who authenticate WAPS material and reference AF specialty-specific occupational analysis data. The tests sample knowledge of STS subject matter areas judged by test development team members as most appropriate for promotion to higher grades. Questions are based upon study references listed in the Enlisted Promotion References and Requirements Catalog (EPRRC). Individual responsibilities are listed in chapter 4 of DAFMAN 36-2664, Personnel Assessment Program. WAPS is not applicable to the Air National Guard or Air Reserve Forces.

3. Recommendations. Comments and recommendations are invited concerning the quality of AETC training. A Customer Service Information Line (CSIL) has been installed for the supervisors' convenience. For a quick response to concerns, call our CSIL at DSN 597-4566, or fax us at DSN 597-3790, or e-mail us at 81TRG.TGE.Workflow@us.af.mil. Reference this STS and identify the specific area of concern (paragraph, training standard element, etc.).

NOTE 2: Knowledge and/or performance tasks are defined in the AFJQS. AFJQS items set the standard for qualification and certification and are mandatory for use in conjunction with this STS when applicable to the duty position.

NOTE 3: All tasks are trained during wartime.

NOTE 4: Certification of CBRN Task Qualification Training (TQT) requirements is outlined in DAFI 36-2670 and DAFI 10-2501, Emergency Management Program. Any core 5 and 7 level tasks are appropriate for evaluation under TQT; supervisors, in conjunction with the HRA BFM, must tailor task selection based on the Airman's assigned UTC, MAJCOM-specific or locally directed requirements. Work centers will identify additional TQT tasks as required.

NOTE 5: Track and manage training for TSgts and below and MSgt/SMSgt retrainees using an automated training system (e.g., myTraining, TBA 2.0, etc.).

NOTE 6: When an AFJQS is loaded into an automated training system, AFJQS task numbering will vary from the STS. The numbering scheme is defined by your work center specific master training plan.

NOTE 7: Third person certification is not required for HRA personnel.

NOTE 8: MSgts in the 3F0X1 AFSC no longer require an Individual Training Plan (ITP) with the following exceptions: personnel in upgrade training status. Unit Commanders can require MSgts with UTC tasks to have an ITP.
