2 PREFACE

The CFETP is a comprehensive education and training document that identifies life-cycle education/training requirements, training support resources, and minimum core task requirements for this specialty. The CFETP will provide Public Affairs (PA) personnel a clear career path to success and will instill rigor in all aspects of career field training. Note: Civilians occupying associated positions may use Part II to support duty position qualification training. Air Force Reserve Command (AFRC) and Air National Guard (ANG) career paths may differ from the career paths depicted in this document. They may develop career paths that more accurately describe the life cycle of reserve and guard personnel.

The CFETP consists of two parts; both parts of the plan are used by supervisors to plan, manage, and control training within the career field.

Part 1 provides information necessary for overall management of the specialty.

- Section 1A explains how everyone will use the plan.
- Section 1B identifies career field progression information, duties and responsibilities, training strategies, and career field path and associates each level with specialty qualifications (knowledge, education, training, and other).
- Section 1C explains the Occupational Competency Model, Airmen's foundational competencies and career field training decisions.
- Section 1D indicates resource constraints (some examples are funds, manpower, equipment, and facilities).
- Section 1E identifies transition training guide requirements for SSgt through MSgt.

Part II includes the following:

- Section 2A identifies the Specialty Training Standards (STS) and includes duties, tasks, technical references to support training, Air Education and Training Command (AETC) conducted training, wartime course, core task, and correspondence course requirements.
- Section 2B identifies the course objective list.
- Section 2C identifies available support materials (an example is a Qualification Training Package (QTP) which may be developed to support proficiency training and they are identified in http://www.e-publishing.af.mil).
- Section 2D identifies a training course index supervisors can use to determine resources available to support training (included here are both mandatory and optional courses).
- Section 2E identifies a major command's (MAJCOM) unique training requirements supervisors can use to determine additional training required for the associated qualification needs.

Using guidance provided in the CFETP will ensure individuals in PA specialties receive effective and efficient training at the appropriate point in their career. This plan will enable us to train today for tomorrow's jobs. At unit-level, supervisors and trainers will use Part II to identify, plan and conduct training commensurate with the overall goals of this plan.

PART I

4 SECTION 1A – GENERAL INFORMATION

4.1 CAREER FIELD AND EDUCATION PLAN (CFETP)

4.1.1 Purpose. The CFETP provides information necessary for AFCFMs, MFMs, commanders, training managers, supervisors and trainers to plan, develop, manage and conduct effective career field training programs. This plan outlines the training individuals in these AFSs should receive to develop and progress throughout their career. This plan identifies initial skills, upgrade, qualification, advanced and proficiency training. Initial skills training is the AFS-specific training an individual receives upon entry into the Air Force or upon retraining into this specialty for award of the 3-skill level. Normally, this training is conducted by AETC at one of the technical training centers. UGT identifies the mandatory courses, task qualification requirements and correspondence course completion requirements for award of the 3-, 5-, 7- and 9-skill levels. QT is actual hands-on task performance training designed to qualify an Airman in a specific duty position. This training program occurs both during and after the UGT process. It is designed to provide the performance skills/knowledge required to do the job. Advanced training is formal specialty training used for selected Airmen. Proficiency training is additional training, either in- residence, exportable advanced training courses, or OJT, provided to personnel to increase their skills and knowledge beyond the minimum required for upgrade. The CFETP has several purposes, some are:

4.1.2 Serves as a management tool to plan, manage, conduct and evaluate a career field training program. Also, it is used to help supervisors identify training at the appropriate point in an individual's career.

4.1.3 Identifies task and knowledge training requirements for each skill level in the specialty and recommends education/training throughout each phase of an individual's career. It also lists training courses available in the specialty and identifies training sources and delivery methods.

4.1.4 Lists training courses available in the specialty, identifies sources of training, and the training delivery method.

4.1.5 Identifies major resource constraints that impact full implementation of the desired career field training process.

4.2 USES OF CFETP

4.2.1 This plan will be used by MFMs and supervisors at all levels to ensure comprehensive and cohesive training programs are available for each individual in the specialty.

4.2.2 DINFOS training personnel will develop/revise formal resident, non-resident, field and exportable training based on requirements established by the users and documented in Part II of the CFETP.

They will also work with the AFCFM to develop acquisition strategies for obtaining resources needed to provide the identified training. DINFOS is a multi-service schoolhouse.

4.2.3 MFMs will ensure their training programs complement the mandatory initial, upgrade and proficiency requirements found in the CFETP. Identified requirements can be satisfied by OJT, resident training, contract training or exportable courses. MAJCOM-developed training to support these AFSCs must be identified for inclusion in the plan.

4.2.4 Each individual will complete the mandatory training requirements specified in this plan. The lists of courses in Part II will be used as a reference to support training.

4.3 COORDINATION AND APPROVAL

4.3.1 The AFCFM is the approval authority. Also, the AFCFM will initiate an annual review of this document to ensure currency and accuracy. (T-1) MAJCOM representatives and AETC training personnel will identify and coordinate on the career field training requirements. (T-2) Using the list of courses in Part II ensures elimination of duplicate training.

4.4 PUBLIC AFFAIRS OCCUPATIONAL BADGES

4.4.1 Air Force occupational badges are significant because they represent an Airman's training, technical expertise, and qualifications in a specific career field or duty, serving as a visible symbol of their service, commitment, and technical mastery to the Department of the Air Force and to fellow service members. These badges indicate a service member's technical knowledge and provide a measure of progression within their chosen specialty, with three levels: Basic, Senior, and Master, denoting increasing levels of experience and responsibility.

Basic

Senior

Master

4.4.2 The quill represents the free flow of information about the Department of the Air Force, and the lightning bolt symbolizes the speed of communication. The globe denotes our worldwide audience.

4.4.3 IAW AFI DAFI 36-2100, MILITARY CLASSIFICATION, TECHNICAL TRAINING, AND RETRAINING, the Public Affairs badge is awarded as follows:

4.4.3.1 Wear the Basic Badge after completing technical school.

4.4.3.2 Wear the Senior Badge after award of the 7-skill level.

4.4.3.3 Wear the Master Badge as a master sergeant or above, with 5 years in the specialty from award of the 7-skill level.

CLEP exams test your knowledge gained through previous experiences and your military training. CLEP exams are comparable to final undergraduate college course exams. Taking and passing these exams can enable test examinees to gain college credit* that can be applied to meet their degree requirements.

4.5.3.1 Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support: https://www.dantes.mil/clep/

4.5.3.2 Enrollment in CLEP examinations while in 5-level upgrade is at supervisor discretion.

6 SECTION 1C - OCCUPATIONAL COMPETENCY MODEL

6.1.1 The Air Force defines competencies as a combination of knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics that manifest in observable and measurable pattern of behaviors required for mission success. The 3N0X6, Public Affairs community has rebuilt the entire training platform by using competencies to identify the behaviors that are needed to be successful on the job. This has been accomplished by identifying and integrating the 3N0X6, Public Affairs occupational competencies and leveraging the Air Force's foundational competencies in a manner that provides all Airmen with transparent and unbiased pathways towards their own successful development.

6.2 AIRMEN'S FOUNDATIONAL COMPETENCIES

6.2.1 The foundational competencies are a set of accepted and valued competencies, which enable success across a wide array of DAF missions, roles, functions, and duties. These competencies are the core of Airmen development and enable Airmen with tools, pathways, and capabilities to improve their performance in any job, specialty, or situation. The foundational competencies are grouped into different categories of Developing Self, Developing Others, Developing Ideas, and Developing Organization. Airmen can go to MyVector (accessible via AF Portal) to complete a self-assessment, which will have them evaluate themselves on the 23 Airmen's foundational competencies or a 360-degree assessment, where subordinates, peers, and leaders can also provide feedback. The assessment tools will provide Airmen with immediate feedback on personal strengths and areas for improvement. Additionally, a personal improvement plan with targeted resources (videos, reading content, developmental opportunities) are provided for continued self-development.

6.2.2 Occupational Competencies. Occupational competencies are a set of competencies required of all Airmen within a specific workforce category. These competencies provide a framework that describes the knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics needed to perform that function's mission successfully.

6.2.3 Occupational Competency Model. A career field's competencies can be viewed in a competency model, which is an organized collection of competencies pertinent to the career field. The occupational competency model provides a framework to effectively assess, maintain, and monitor the competencies required for mission success for Airmen within the Public Affairs community. The occupational competency modeling process follows a distinct process with continued involvement from the career field and allows Airmen to see how their task lists, OJT, formal courses, and other training, education, and experiences are aligned to the career field's strategic objectives.

6.2.4 Career fields work with trained competency experts to identify and develop their competency model, which consists of the competencies, sub-competencies, and definitions. Occupational competency models will be different for each career field. The model focuses on integrating not just the technical components, but also leadership, management, combat, joint, all-domain, and social mastery competencies required for Airmen to succeed in their career field.

Competency	Sub-Competency	Sub-Competency Description
Communication Methods	Mediums	The conveyance of information through verbal, non-verbal, audio, visual, and written mediums to achieve strategic communication objectives.
	Digital Platform Management	The employment of internet-based applications to enhance information dissemination.
Strategy and Assessments	Strategy and Assessments	The ability to effectively research, plan, implement and evaluate communication activities to align with lines of effort and achieve desired outcomes.
External Communications	Media Operations	Leveraging external media agencies to disseminate information.
	Release of Information	The process of disclosing information to appropriate audiences.
	Community Engagement	Builds and maintains relationships through the understanding of DAF missions, policies, operations, and programs.
Management	Program Management	Establishing, executing, and managing programs to ensure compliance with all regulations and standards.
	Resource Management	The process of forecasting, scheduling, and advocating for resources to meet current and future mission needs.
Leadership	Personnel Development	The continuous process of developing Airmen to enhance operational performance and career growth.
	Training	The process of enhancing skills, knowledge, and competencies through structured learning experiences.

6.2.5 Occupational Competency Rubric. After a model is developed, a team of subject matter experts begin building competency rubrics, which consists of the competency, a description of the competency, proficiency levels, and measurable and observable behaviors. The competency rubrics will help Airmen learn which behaviors are aligned to the career field's strategic direction, the professional developmental expectations, and the criteria for success. Figure 3. provides an example of a competency rubric for 3N0X6, Public Affairs career field.

6.2.6 To better understand how to read and utilize the competency rubric, a breakdown of each component is explained below in figure 4a-c.

Competency Leadership	←	The competency section states the competency group.
Sub-Competency Personnel Development	←	The sub-competency section states the narrower category that forms part of the competency group. Note: Some models may only consist of a competency and not include a sub-competency.
Description The continuous process of developing Airmen to enhance operational performance and career growth.	←	The description section provides a statement that gives details about the sub-competency, enabling career field members to better understand how sub-competency relates to the AFS.

Supporting Competencies
Develops People Leadership Communication Relationship Building	←	The supporting competencies section are supported-level competencies that are linked to the success of the sub-competency. These competencies lend themselves more toward areas like values, traits, and attitudes. These competencies were included as part of a larger survey that went out to the entire AFS; respondents were asked to rate the top supporting competencies they believe will contribute to higher successful performance within the sub-competency.

Proficiency Levels
Expert Reach of Influence: MAJCOM/AF-Level/Industry	←	The proficiency levels are broken into four parts: basic, intermediate, advanced, and expert. Under each proficiency level are predetermined criteria selected by a group of SMEs from your career field and validated by the career field. The criteria were used as the basis to develop observable behaviors. These criteria provide concrete parameters for the behaviors, which are consistent but progressive in nature as a member moves up the scale from basic to expert. Some of the criteria (e.g. depth of knowledge, consistency of application/complexity, and thinking challenge) allow an individual to become an expert through the experience gained in a particular job and over a period of time. For example, the person can quickly move up different proficiency levels while they are serving as a technician at a flight; they move quickly because they are exposed to a variety of situations. While other criteria (e.g. scope, impact, and reach of influence) require more of a hierarchical approach to gain the experience needed to progress through the competency levels. Moving through the proficiency levels may be difficult to do in certain jobs. For example, if scope at the expert level requires job integration with the AF-level, then the individual may have to be in a position where they can gain that experience (i.e. at HHQ, Wing, or an organization with far reaching capabilities).
Advanced Reach of Influence: Wing/Institutional
Intermediate Reach of Influence: Unit/Groups
Basic Reach of Influence: Individuals

Observable Behaviors
1. Leads, coaches, and mentors others to enhance team and individual performance 2. Establishes a climate of discipline, professionalism and respect to achieve strategic objectives 3. Creates developmental opportunities for Airmen to increase mission effectiveness 4. Establishes a culture of critical thinking to create solutions and manage risk		The observable behaviors are statements of what can be observed from an individual manifesting the competency at the respective competency level. They provide objective evidence that the individual possesses the competency level and shows what effective performance looks like. The behaviors are written to be specific enough so they can be observable and lend themselves towards measurement.
1. Demonstrates social awareness to enhance collaboration and individual performance 2. Promotes a culture of discipline, professionalism and respect to achieve strategic objectives 3. Recommends development opportunities to increase knowledge, skills, and abilities 4. Applies critical thinking to determine effects of decision making

1. Demonstrates followership by supporting leaders and contributing toward a professional environment 2. Demonstrates initiative and creative thinking to accomplish tasks 3. Utilizes career progression resources to further personal and professional development 4. Practices self-care and resiliency that benefits the individual and institution

6.2.7 Another key component within the rubric is the supporting competencies section at the bottom left-hand corner. These are the top four supporting competencies that can help members excel and be successful in that particular sub-competency. Some of these supporting competencies are tied directly to the Airmen's Foundational Competencies, while others may be unique to the career field. Having these supporting competencies identified and linked to a career field's competency model can cultivate those underlying characteristics needed to succeed on the job. Leaders, supervisors, trainers, instructors, or mentors can now set members up for greater success by building these supporting competencies and placing their Airmen in situations where they can apply those strategies. All of these elements come together to ensure we can develop Airmen who are better prepared, present and future mission focused, and ready to succeed in any situation. Additionally, AFH 36-2643, Air Force Mentoring Program, has information on how competencies can be used when an established mentoring strategy is put into effect to foster and develop Airmen.

6.2.8 Competency Development. The intent of moving towards a competency-based system is to sharpen our Airmen's tactical expertise, operational competence, strategic vision, and joint proficiency to lead and execute the full spectrum of USAF missions. This occurs not in a classroom but on the job by combining education, training, and experiences to provide Airmen with a better developmental pathway as they move along their careers. Airmen are still required to complete specific training courses, core tasks, and other training requirements. Competency development allows Airmen to move beyond the minimum career field requirements and begin addressing developmental gaps and strengthening their capabilities. The information included within the competency model will allow members within the Public Affairs community to manage their professional growth and development by identifying their strengths and weaknesses against clear and objective behaviors within the competency model.

6.3 TRAINING DECISIONS

6.3.1 The CFETP has undergone a considerable revision towards building a competency-based training and development platform for the Public Affairs career field. A significant change has been to shift the focus from task-based training to one that is more centered on outcomes-based learning. A task is a unit of work activity or operation which forms a significant part of a duty. These are singular in nature and are usually accomplished in one continuous action, which also can occur independently of other tasks. Conversely, outcomes are learning goals that typically consist of a multitude of tasks. These outcomes are actions and performances that embody and reflect the learner's competence in using content, information, ideas, and tools successfully. Focusing on learning outcomes allow organizations, leaders, supervisors, and trainers to incorporate foundational competencies and underlying characteristics (values, traits, attitudes) into learning, which is necessary for developing Airmen with the competencies needed for future challenges. The following decisions were made as a result of close coordination between HQ AETC, Technical Training, schoolhouse instructors and staff, field SMEs, functional managers and the PW/STRT sought to develop the learning outcomes. This was accomplished by reverse engineering the behaviors found in the Public Affairs occupational competency model and then by asking what does an Airman need to able to know and do in order to master a specific behavior. The intent of the learning outcomes is to identify all factors needed to succeed in attaining the behavior. Formal training will be codified by using the behavioral statement coding system for the STS as opposed to the proficiency code key. As a result, each line item will consist of a verb and the coding system for formal training will only use P (performance), K (knowledge), and pk (performance-knowledge).

6.3.2 The CFETP uses a building block approach (simple to complex) to encompass the entire spectrum of training requirements for the Public Affairs career field. The spectrum includes a strategy for when, where, and how to meet the training requirements. The strategy must be apparent and affordable to reduce duplication of training and eliminate a disjointed approach to training. The following decisions were made by a career field STRT held in San Antonio, TX.

6.3.3 Initial Skills Training. The STS (Part II, Section A and B) informs and aligns the Mass Communication Foundations Course, and the Training Performance Indicators published 1 October 2025 at the Defense Information School.

6.3.4 5-Level Upgrade Requirements. Upgrade to the 5-skill level requires completion of the Public Affairs Journeyman Course (PAJC) and Public Affairs Journeyman Course-Wing (PAJC-W) when assigned to a wing-, group-, NAF-, or MAJCOM-level organization, and completion of all core tasks. In instances where an individual cannot be qualified on a core task due to resource limitations, refer to DAFMAN 36-2689 for training guidance and proper documentation. Trainee must complete a minimum of 12 months in 5-level upgrade training or 9 months for retrainees for award of the 5-skill level.

6.3.5 7-Level Upgrade Training Requirements. 7-level upgrade training will be accomplished through completion of OJT and core task qualification. Enrollment in UGT starts upon selection to the grade of E5/Staff Sergeant. Trainees must complete 12 months in 7-level upgrade training or 6 months for retrainees for award of the 7-skill level.

6.3.6 9-Level Upgrade Training Requirements: Not applicable.

6.3.7 Proficiency Training. See PA SharePoint: Public Affairs Enlisted Roadmap.

9 SECTION 2A - SPECIALTY TRAINING STANDARD (STS)

9.1.1 Implementation. The STS will be used for technical training provided by DINFOS for the 3N0 apprentice courses. The creation of 5-skill level continuation courses using the proficiency codes listed in column 4 is scheduled to be released on a date not yet determined. The STS denotes skills required for Public Affairs Airmen assigned to a wing. Airmen assigned to Combat Camera, Audiovisual Squadrons, American Forces Network or other specialized units are required to complete the listed STS core requirements as well as the assigned units Job Qualification Standard (as applicable).

9.1.2 Purpose. As prescribed, this Specialty Training Standard:

9.1.2.1 Lists in column 1 the most common competencies, sub-competencies, proficiency levels, observable behaviors, and learning outcomes necessary for individuals to perform duties in AFSC 3N0XX. Technical references are listed within the associated competency assessment workbook, not the STS.

9.1.2.2 Shows, in column 4, formal training and correspondence course requirements by listing the proficiency to be demonstrated on the job by the graduate as a result of training on the task and the career knowledge provided by the corresponding course.

9.1.2.3 Contains the Behavioral Statement Coding System to indicate the level of training and knowledge provided by resident training and career development courses.

9.1.2.4 Is used to document task completion within MyTraining. CFETP documentation shall be IAW DAFMAN 36-2689, or any subsequent messages.

9.1.2.4.1 Note: Required upgrade training "core task(s)" identified by local unit, as "not available for training" must be annotated in MyTraining. The 5- or 7-skill level can then be awarded when all other training and core tasks are complete.

9.1.2.5 Assists in the development of promotion tests used in the Weighted Airman Promotion System (WAPS). Senior NCOs with extensive practical experience in their career fields develop the Specialty Knowledge Tests (SKTs) at the USAF Occupational Measurement Squadron. The tests sample knowledge of STS subject matter areas judged by test development team members as most appropriate for promotion to higher grades. Questions are based upon study references listed in the Enlisted Promotions Reference and Requirements Catalog (EPRRC). Individual responsibilities are in AFI 36-2502, Enlisted Airman Promotion and Demotions.

9.1.2.6 Transcribing. Transcribing documentation to a new CFETP is an administrative function, not a re-evaluation of training. Therefore, supervisor and trainer are considered synonymous for the purpose of documentation. Transcribe within 120 days (240 days for ARC) of CFETP revision date or from date revision is posted to automated training records system.

9.1.2.7 Third-Party Certification. Core tasks identified in this CFETP do not require third-party certification.

9.1.2.8 Disqualification and Requalification. When an Airman is found to be unqualified on a task previously qualified on for their duty position in MyTraining, the supervisor will take action to disqualify the task MyTraining and complete a journal entry. After successful remedial training, the supervisor will requalify the task in MyTraining with accompanying journal entry.

9.1.2.9 Training Standard. Tasks are trained and qualified to the "go/no go" level. "Go" means the individual can perform the task without assistance and meet local demands for accuracy, timeliness and correct use of procedures IAW DAFMAN 36-2689 .

9.1.2.10 Recommendations. Please submit all training-related comments and recommendations through appropriate command channels to SAF/PAR, 1690 Air Force Pentagon, Room 4B912, Washington D.C. 20330.
