MILITARY TRAINING LEADER 8B100
CAREER FIELD EDUCATION AND TRAINING PLAN

PART I

Preface

1. The Career Field Education and Training Plan (CFETP) is a comprehensive document that identifies lifecycle education/training requirements, training support resources, minimum core training task requirements for the 8B100 Military Training Leader (MTL) special duty identifier (SDI). The CFETP provides a clear path to success and instills rigor in all aspects of SDI training for personnel performing the Technical Training (TT) mission under the authority of the Air Education and Training Command (AETC). This CFETP applies to MTLs selected to perform 8B100 duties within AETC, Air Force District of Washington (AFDW), Air Force Special Operations (AFSOC), Air Combat Command (ACC), Air Warfare Center (AWC), Air Force Judge Advocate General School (AFJAGS) and the USAF School of Aerospace Medicine (USAFSAM).

2. The CFETP consists of two parts. Supervisors plan, manage, and control training within the SDI using both parts of the plan.

   2.1 Part I provides information for overall management of the SDI 8B100. Section A explains how individuals will use the plan; Section B identifies SDI specialty descriptions, career progression information, duties, responsibilities and selection criteria; section C illustrates SDI training requirements; section D indicates resource constraints (funds, manpower, equipment, facilities) and is not used.; section E identifies transition training guide requirements for E-5 through E-7 and is also not used; section F is used to document training decisions.

   2.2 Part II includes the following: Section A identifies the STS and includes competencies, outcomes, Technical References to support training, AETC conducted training, wartime course and core tasks, and correspondence course requirements; Section B is a Course Objective List and is not used; section C identifies available support materials such as a qualification training package; section D consists of a training course index of mandated and optional courses supervisors can use to support training; section E identifies MAJCOM unique training requirements supervisors can use to determine additional training required to meet associated qualification needs. At unit level, supervisors and trainers use Part II to identify, plan and conduct training commensurate with the overall goals of this plan.

3. Using this CFETP guidance ensures effective and efficient training for individuals in the SDI 8B100.

ABBREVIATIONS AND TERMS EXPLAINED

Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC). A five-digit alphanumeric code with potential prefixes and suffixes added to identify each career field within the Air Force.

Airmen in Training (AiT). An Airman who is currently attending a flying or technical training course.

Basic Military Training (BMT). Provides initial accessions training and processing for all enlisted Airmen (active duty, guard and reserve) entering the United States Air Force.

Career Field Education and Training Plan (CFETP). An Air Force publication that describes an Air Force Specialty or Special Duty Identifier (SDI) in terms of tasks and knowledge that an Airman in that specialty may be expected to perform or to know on the job. Also identifies the training provided to achieve advancement within an enlisted Air Force Specialty (AFS) or SDI. It further serves as a contract between AETC and the functional user to show which of the overall training requirements are taught in formal schools and other sources.

Certification. A formal indication of an individual's ability to perform a task to required standards.

Certification Official (Task Certifier). A person whom the commander assigns to determine an individual's ability to perform a task to required standards.

Collateral Training Folder (CTF). Folder (electronic or hard copy) established for each AiT to document/record any event relevant to training requirements/military standards training (MST) (i.e. progressive discipline documents, safety briefings, orders, etc.).

Community College of the Air Force (CCAF). The Community College of the Air Force (CCAF) is a multi-campus, federally chartered institution. CCAF confers the associate in applied science degree as part of Air University (AU), which is accredited through the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACS/COC).

CCAF Accreditation. A nongovernmental and voluntary process concerned with improving educational quality and assuring member institutions meet established standards. Accreditation of an institution by the Commission on Colleges signifies the institution and its affiliated school has a purpose appropriate to higher education and has resources, programs and services sufficient to accomplish its purpose on a continuing basis.

CCAF Affiliated School. Teach collegiate courses contributing to CCAF degree programs, and affiliation enables those schools to mutually share the benefits and responsibilities of the regional accreditation held by CCAF as part of AU.

Competencies. A combination of knowledge, skills, abilities and other characteristics that manifest in observable and measurable pattern of behaviors required for mission success.

Competency Model. A collection of competencies that together define successful performance in a particular work setting. Competency models are the foundation for important human resource functions such as recruitment and hiring, training and development, and retention. Competency models can be developed for specific jobs, job groups, organizations, occupations, or missions. Some competency models include information about the levels of competence, mastery, or proficiency required at different occupational levels.

Core Task. Tasks the SDM identifies as minimum qualification requirements for everyone within an AFSC/SDI, regardless of duty position. Core tasks may be specified for a particular skill level or in general across the AFSC/SDI. Guidance for using core tasks can be found in the applicable CFETP or Air Force Job Qualification Standard (AFJQS) narrative.

Deliberate Leadership Education (DLE). Education designed to enhance leadership tools and capabilities for all MTLs. DLE is developed in collaboration with the Center for Character and Leadership Development (CCLD) and supporting agencies and covers advanced leadership principles and practices beyond qualification training to promote achievement of each training squadron's strategic vision/goals and Air Force requirements for Airmen.

Department of the Air Force Enlisted Classification Directory (DAFECD). The directories contain the official specialty descriptions for all military classification codes and identifiers which are used to identify each Air Force job (valid requirement) and describe the minimum mandatory qualifications of personnel to fill these jobs. These standards are used to procure, classify, and employ personnel; to develop career programs for initial training, retraining, and skill upgrade; and to structure unit manpower document (UMD) positions.

Duty Position Tasks. Tasks assigned to an individual to be considered qualified for the position currently held. These include, as a minimum, all core tasks that correspond to the duty position as directed by the SDM and tasks assigned by the supervisor.

Education and Training Course Announcements (ETCA). Contains specific MAJCOM procedures, fund citations, reporting instructions, and listings for those formal courses conducted or managed by MAJCOMs or field operating agencies.

Education and Training Management Degree. A CCAF degree for Air Force personnel assigned as an 8B100.

Military Standards Training (MST). Builds upon the institutional competencies training initiated during Basic Military Training (BMT) and requires an AiT to perform at an increased (go/no-go) level of proficiency than those exhibited during BMT. Also encompasses Air Force standards, military customs, courtesies, and traditions training as outlined in Air Force Instruction (AFI) 1-1, Air Force Standards and AFH 36-2618, Enlisted Force Structure, for enlisted AiT. Includes drill and ceremonies training, professional and unprofessional relationships, sexual assault prevention and response program training, suicide prevention program training, risk management training, comprehensive airman fitness education and training, and continuous process improvement training.

Military Training Leader (MTL). Responsible for mentoring, training, and leading all assigned non prior service (NPS) Airmen during Technical Training. Evaluates standards of conduct, performance, military bearing and discipline while scheduling and conducting military training functions. Advises and counsels students by motivating personnel to develop military attitudes, effective human relations, and social skills for improving interpersonal and military relations. Plans, organizes, and directs military education instructions.

Non-prior Service (NPS). An Airman who is currently attending a flying or technical training course who has not been awarded their 3-skill level.

Occupational Competencies. A set of competencies required of all Airmen within a specific workforce category (a group of functions requiring similar work, i.e., Engineering). They describe technical/functional skills, knowledge, abilities, behaviors, and other characteristics needed to perform that function's mission successfully (taken from AFH 36-2647, Competency Modeling).

On-The-Job Training (OJT). Hands-on, "over-the-shoulder" training conducted to certify personnel in both upgrade (skill level award and job qualification) and position certification training.

Special Category Guide (SPECAT). An assignment guide published by Air Force Personnel Center (AFPC) listing requirements and application instructions for special duty assignments.

Special Duty Identifier (SDI). Identifies authorizations for enlisted Airmen assigned to and performing an actual group of tasks on a semi-permanent or permanent duty basis.

Specialty Training Requirements Team (STRT)/Utilization and Training Workshop (U&TW). For SDI 8B100, a forum of 8B100 SDM, functional managers, AETC Training Pipeline Manager, and subject matter experts (SMEs) to identify the education and training needs, develop and review training programs, resolve training or personnel utilization issues, and develop the CFETP.

Specialty Training Standard (STS). An Air Force publication (typically inserted as Part II of the CFETP) that describes an AFSC in terms of tasks and identifies knowledge that an Airman in that specialty may be expected to perform or to know on the job. Also identifies the training provided to achieve a 3, 5, 7, or 9-skill level within an enlisted AFSC. It further serves as a contract between AETC and the functional user to show which of the overall training requirements for an AFSC are taught in formal schools and correspondence courses.

Standard. An exact value, a physical entity, or an abstract concept, the appropriate authority, custom, or common consent sets up and defines to serve as a reference, model, or rule in measuring quantities or qualities, developing practices or procedures, or evaluating results. A fixed quantity or quality.

Training/Technical Reference (TR). Any guidance documentation used in support of training.

Wartime Course. Comprised of those tasks that must be taught when courses are accelerated in a wartime environment.

Wartime Tasks. Tasks to be taught in the 3-skill level awarding course when the wartime courses have been activated. In response to a wartime scenario, these tasks will be taught in the 3-skill level awarding course in a streamlined training environment. These tasks are only for those career fields that require them to be applied to their technical training center tasks.

Section A – General Information

1. Purpose of the CFETP

1.1. This CFETP provides information necessary for commanders, training managers, training superintendents, supervisors, and trainers to plan, develop, manage, conduct, and evaluate an effective MTL training program. Standardized education and training requirements are essential for all MTLs. This CFETP accurately reflects what is necessary for a new or experienced Non- Commissioned Officer (NCO) and Senior Non-Commissioned Officer (SNCO) to prepare for MTL duties. Specifically, this CFETP:

1.1.1. Establishes baseline training requirements for initial and advanced qualifications for SDI 8B100 duties.

1.1.2. Identifies resource requirements that may impact CFETP implementation.

2. Use of the CFETP

2.1. Managers in all training squadrons use this comprehensive, standardized training program to develop qualified faculty who are able to meet the unique requirements of each teaching, management, or instructional support assignment.

2.2. The Special Duty Manager (SDM) and Air Force Military Training Leader Functional Manager (AF MTL FM) ensure MTL training programs complement mandatory initial qualification training requirements.

2.3. All MTLs must complete mandatory training requirements as specified in Part II of this CFETP.

3. Coordination and Approval of the CFETP

3.1. The Special Duty Manager (SDM) for the SDI 8B100 determines 8B100 training requirements and develops and revises an effective CFETP through the Specialty Training Requirement Team (STRT) process and/or Utilization and Training Workshop (U&TW). The Air Force Military Training Leader Functional Manager (AF MTL FM) will maintain the CFETP, suggest necessary revisions, and submit new or revised CFETP versions to the SDM for approval. The AF MTL FM coordinates, publishes, and maintains the electronic record set of the 8B100 CFETP.

3.2. The AF MTL FM will conduct an annual review of the CFETP, consolidate inputs from SMEs, and report inadequacies to the SDM NLT 45 days prior to the anniversary date of the CFETP (as printed in the upper right corner of the CFETP). Negative replies are required.

3.3. The SDM will conduct an annual review within 45 days of the anniversary date of the CFETP to ensure accuracy and relevancy, as well as consider changes provided by the MTL community or senior group staff; will conduct a U&TW/STRT when it appears major revision or replacement of the CFETP is necessary to meet mission requirements; and will publish, issue, announce, and induct the CFETP IAW DAFMAN 36-2689, Training Program.

Section B – 8B100, Military Training Leader

4. Specialty Description

4.1. Special Duty Summary. Mentor, train, and lead non-prior service (NPS) Airmen-in- Training (AiT) attending technical training, including Air Reserve and Air National Guard.

4.2 Duties and Responsibilities

4.2.1. First-line Supervisor to non-prior service (NPS) Airmen; ensures Airmen continue to maintain military standards/discipline learned during Basic Military Training. Monitors safety in formations, dormitories, and sports. Ensure students maintain personal and professional appearance and fitness standards. Ensures students comply with directives/orders, develop healthy followership attitude, and continue to assimilate to the Air Force way of life.

4.2.2. Monitors and conducts personal and professional training/development aligned with enhancing the Profession of Arms within the unit. Plans, organizes, and directs military education instruction. Determines appropriate instruction methods considering the group size and subject matter. Conducts instruction using demonstration-performance and lecture methods. Maintains thorough knowledge of and instructs personnel in drill, parades, retreats, and reviews. Provides supplemental military training.

4.2.3. Advises and counsels Airmen. Establishes and conducts incoming, outgoing, and student entry briefings. Conducts individual and group interviews. Motivates personnel to develop military attitudes, effective human relations, and social skills for improving interpersonal and military relations. Assist students in their personal adjustment to military life. Applies counseling techniques and military experience to counsel Airmen with training, military bearing, and behavior problems. Refers students to the appropriate staff agency when necessary. Identifies Airmen unfit or unsuitable for retention in the Air Force.

4.2.4. Prepares and maintains files and records, such as Collateral Training Folders (CTF), on military education and counseling matters. Prepare statistical reports and records about student accountability. Accounts for assigned students and maintains general military training forms. Maintains duty rosters and forms and assures squadron details are distributed fairly.

4.2.5. Conducts facility management duties for non-prior service dormitories. Assigns Airmen to living quarters and ensures positive key control. Establishes security and accountability measures for residents. Ensures Airmen preserve healthy standards of living and assume effective stewardship of living space/dormitory. Conducts periodic safety exercises for Airmen. Leads dormitory health and wellness inspections as directed.

4.2.6. Establishes and conducts in-processing, out-processing briefings. Conduct pre-departure briefings for weekend liberty, holiday, and leave. Liaison to Military Personnel Flight concerning Airman assignments and records processing. Assists with Recruiters Assistance Program application.

4.2.7. Guides and assists in selecting, training, and evaluation of Airmen in developmental programs (i.e., Student Leaders, Drill Team, etc.).

4.3. 8B100 Approved Duty Titles

4.3.1. Air Force Military Training Leader Functional Manager oversees the health and sustainment of the MTL career field, developing policies, standards, and procedures that govern training operations across multiple MAJCOMs. They coordinate with MTL Superintendents and Senior Leaders on resource allocation, program effectiveness, and strategic planning while ensuring consistency and quality in MTL development and implementation across the Air Force enterprise.

4.3.2. Senior Enlisted Leader serves as part of the command team for the applicable student courses--i.e. Air Force and International undergraduate pilot training (UPT) students. As the primary advisor to the Squadron Commander, they are responsible for all military training, standards and discipline. Conducts military-related training, counseling, and mentorship for the students regarding personal and professional matters. Additionally, they may be responsible for maintaining accountability of both the active-duty cadre and civilian counterparts and ensuring they are in compliance with NAF military training directives and policies. They will manage the Group and Squadron professional development programs, administrative tasks, quality force reviews, reclassifications, and administrative functions for civilians. These positions are specifically designated for the E-7 positions under the 19 AF IAW the UMD. Specific units are: 12 TRS, 479 STUS, 14 STUS, 47 STUS, and 71 STUS.

4.3.3. Superintendent, Military Training is responsible for the care, growth, and development of their assigned MTLs. They are a key enlisted leader of a group or wing executive management team, which is essential to technical training mission effectiveness. This position serves as the functional area manager for military training of all MTL authorizations assigned and provides tactical guidance and strategic alignment on matters related to the Military Training Flight's mission. These positions are specifically designated for the E-8 positions IAW the UMD.

4.3.4. Command Military Training Leader provides senior-level oversight and strategic direction for all MTL operations across the Air Force. They establish training priorities, coordinate with wing and group leadership on resource requirements, and ensure standardization of training programs while serving as the primary advisor on training policy and effectiveness across multiple MAJCOMs.

4.3.5. Commandant, Military Training Leader School oversees the entire institution responsible for developing and certifying MTLs. They certify training leaders, establishing curriculum standards and educational policies. They manage faculty, resources, and academic programs while ensuring graduates are fully prepared to effectively mentor, train and lead Airmen across the Air Force enterprise.

4.3.6. Instructor, Military Training Leader School teaches and develops future MTLs through specialized coursework and practical application exercises. They deliver curriculum on training methodologies, leadership principles, and Air Force standards while mentoring Airmen and evaluating their readiness to assume training leadership roles throughout the Air Force.

4.3.7. Wing Military Training Leader oversees all training programs across their respective wing, ensuring personnel receive proper military education and specialized skills training. They develop training schedules, manage resources, and maintain compliance with Air Force standards while working with commanders to enhance unit readiness and mission capability.

4.3.8. Group Military Training Leader directs and supervises training operations at the group level, focusing on individual MTL development and career progression. They assess training requirements, allocate instructional resources and collaborate with unit leadership to ensure compliance with professional military standards training and mission-specific competencies.

4.3.9. Flight Chief, Military Training manages day-to-day training operations for their flight personnel, providing hands-on mentorship and guidance to individual MTLs and Airmen. They execute training plans, track individual progress and serve as the primary point of contact between AiT and higher-level training leadership to ensure successful completion of required training and certifications.

4.3.10. Section Chief, Military Training provides leadership and management to a training section. Under the direction of the Flight Chief, they are responsible for implementing the flight's training plan by directing and synchronizing the efforts of their subordinate personnel. This position ensures the consistent application of standards and effective mentorship across their assigned work centers, integrating the section's overall effort to meet operational goals.

4.3.11. Master Military Training Leader serves as the senior MTL for training operations, providing strategic oversight and guidance across multiple programs and units. They mentor junior MTLs, establish training policies and best practices, and serve as the SME for complex training issues while ensuring alignment of Air Force standards amongst AiTs and fellow MTLs.

4.3.12. Military Training Leader facilitates the professional development and military education of assigned AiT, providing direct instruction and mentorship to ensure career progression. They conduct training sessions, evaluate individual performance, and maintain detailed records while fostering military bearing, discipline and core Air Force values among their AiT.

5. Competencies. The Air Force defines competencies as a combination of knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics that manifest in observable and measurable patterns of behaviors required for mission success. The Military Training Leader community has rebuilt the entire training platform by using competencies to identify the behaviors that are needed to be successful on the job. This has been accomplished by identifying and integrating the 8B100 Military Training Leader occupational competencies and leveraging the Air Force's foundational competencies in a manner that provides all Airmen with transparent and unbiased pathways towards their own successful development.

5.1. Airmen's Foundational Competencies. The foundational competencies are a set of accepted and valued competencies, which enable success across a wide array of DAF missions, roles, functions, and duties. These competencies are the core of Airmen development and enable Airmen with tools, pathways, and capabilities to improve their performance in any job, specialty, or situation. The foundational competencies are grouped into different categories of Developing Self, Developing Others, Developing Ideas, and Developing Organization. Airmen can go to MyVector (accessible via AF Portal) to complete a self-assessment, which will have them evaluate themselves on the 23 Airmen's foundational competencies or a 360-degree assessment, where subordinates, peers, and leaders can also provide feedback. The assessment tools will provide Airmen with immediate feedback on personal strengths and areas for improvement. Additionally, a personal improvement plan with targeted resources (videos, reading content, developmental opportunities) are provided for continued self-development.

5.2. Occupational Competencies. Occupational competencies are a set of competencies required of all Airmen within a specific workforce category. These competencies provide a framework that describes the knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics needed to perform that function's mission successfully.

5.2.1. Occupational Competency Model. A career field's competencies can be viewed in a competency model, which is an organized collection of competencies pertinent to the career field. The occupational competency model provides a framework to effectively assess, maintain, and monitor the competencies required for mission success for Airmen within the Military Training Leader community. The occupational competency modeling process follows a distinct process with continued involvement from the career field and allows Airmen to see how their task lists, OJT, formal courses, and other training, education, and experiences are aligned to the career field's strategic objectives.

5.2.2. Career fields work with trained competency experts to identify and develop their competency model, which consists of the competencies, sub-competencies, and definitions. Occupational competency models will be different for each career field. The model focuses on integrating not just the technical components, but also leadership, management, combat, joint, all-domain, and social mastery competencies required for Airmen to succeed in their career field.

Competency	Sub-Competency	Sub-Competency Description
Development	Personnel Development	The ability to guide personnel effectively to complete taskings through compliance with directives.
	Training	The focus on mentoring, enforcing standards, and fostering professional development.
Organizational Management	Personnel Management	The administrative activities related to managing an organization's workforce.
	Program Management	Manage and enhance programs by identifying, designing, implementing, and continuously improving processes and systems.
	Resource Management	The process of efficiently and effectively planning, allocating, and utilizing available resources to achieve specific mission objectives.
Compliance	Compliance	The adherence to policy, discipline, and operational standards through oversight, evaluations, and enforcement.
Communication	Communication	The clear, professional, and directive interactions to mentor, instruct, and enforce standards.

5.3. Occupational Competency Rubric. After a model is developed, a team of subject matter experts begin building competency rubrics, which consists of the competency, a description of the competency, proficiency levels, and measurable and observable behaviors. The competency rubrics will help Airmen learn which behaviors are aligned to the career field's strategic direction, the professional developmental expectations, and the criteria for success. Figure 3 provides an example of a competency rubric for the 8B100 career field.

Competency	Proficiency Levels	Observable Behaviors
Organizational Management	Expert Reach of Influence: MAJCOM/AF-Level/Industry	1. Designs and implements personnel management strategies to enhance force management 2. Collaborates with senior leaders and policy-makers to develop and refine personnel management policies 3. Leverages industry best practices and data analytics to ensure mission readiness 4. Engages with Department of War agencies and industry leaders to integrate innovative personnel management practices
Sub-Competency Personnel Management	Advanced Reach of Influence: Wing/Institutional	1. Develops and implement personnel management strategies to optimize manpower utilization 2. Recommends adjustments to duty assignments and staffing levels by assessing wing-wide personnel needs 3. Interprets Air Force personnel policies and implement standardized procedures to ensure compliance 4. Identifies inefficiencies and introduce data-driven improvements by analyzing personnel management systems
Description The administrative activities related to managing an organization's workforce.	Intermediate Reach of Influence: Unit/Groups	1. Organizes and balances personnel assignments to optimize workload distribution and operational efficiency 2. Identifies trends in training gaps by ensuring personnel receive necessary development opportunities 3. Monitors performance data to identify patterns, deficiencies and improvement strategies 4. Maintains compliance and standardization, by ensuring enforcement of personnel policies
Supporting Competencies Change Management Organizational Awareness Resource Management Strategic Thinking	Basic Reach of Influence: Individuals	1. Ensures personnel records are maintained to support administrative efficiency and compliance 2. Assigns duties based on personnel strengths and mission priorities to enhance operational effectiveness 3. Records and tracks performance feedback to support career development and evaluation process 4. Reinforces AF policies to maintain organizational discipline

5.3.1. To better understand how to read and utilize the competency rubric, a breakdown of each component is explained below in Figure 4a-c.

Competency	←	The competency section states the competency group.
Development
Sub-Competency

Training	←	The sub-competency section states the narrower category that forms part of the competency group. Note: Some models may only consist of a competency and not include a sub-competency.
Description The focus on mentoring, enforcing standards, and fostering professional development.	←	The description section provides a statement that gives details about the sub-competency, enabling career field members to better understand how sub-competency relates to the AFSC.
Supporting Competencies Accountability Communication Develops People Results Focused	←	The supporting competencies section are supported-level competencies that are linked to the success of the sub-competency. These competencies lend themselves more toward areas like values, traits, and attitudes. These competencies were included as part of a larger survey that went out to the entire AFSC; respondents were asked to rate the top supporting competencies they believe will contribute to higher successful performance within the sub-competency.

Proficiency Levels	←	The proficiency levels are broken into four parts: basic, intermediate, advanced, and expert. Under each proficiency level are predetermined criteria selected by a group of SMEs from your career field and validated by the career field. The criteria were used as the basis to develop the observable behaviors. These criteria provide concrete parameters for the behaviors, which are consistent but progressive in nature as a member moves up the scale from basic to expert. Some of the criteria (e.g. depth of knowledge, consistency of application/complexity, and thinking challenge) allows an individual to become an expert through the experience gained in a particular job and over a period of time. For example, the person can quickly move up different proficiency levels while they are serving as a technician at a flight; they move
Expert Reach of Influence: MAJCOM/AF-Level/Industry
Advanced Reach of Influence: Gp/Wg
Intermediate Reach of Influence: Unit/Org

Basic Reach of Influence: Individuals		quickly because they are exposed to a variety of situations. While other criteria (e.g. scope, impact, and reach of influence) requires more of a hierarchical approach to gain the experience needed to progress through the competency levels. Moving through the proficiency levels may be difficult to do in certain jobs. For example, if scope at the expert level requires job integration with the AF-level, then the individual may have to be in a position where they can gain that experience (i.e. at HHQ, Wing, or an organization with far reaching capabilities).

Observable Behaviors	←	The observable behaviors are statements of what can be observed from an individual manifesting the competency at the respective competency level.
1. Pioneers new instructional training methodologies by leveraging data-driven insights and technology 2. Leads instructor personnel development programs to standardize and elevate training effectiveness across the organization 3. Integrates emerging best practices and research-driven methodologies to enhance force readiness
1. Analyzes mission requirements and operational challenges to prepare personnel for high-stakes environments 2. Provides strategic guidance on instructional techniques to elevate leadership capabilities 3. Evaluates training scenarios to enhance critical thinking and decision-making under pressure		They provide objective evidence that the individual possesses the competency level, and shows what effective performance looks like.
1. Adjust training strategies by evaluating individual and group performance 2. Reinforces compliance to ensure adherence to Air Force standards 3. Modifies instructional training delivery to improve trainee comprehension and skill development 4. Assesses training effectiveness by collecting data and analyzing results		The behaviors are written to be specific enough so they can be observable and lend themselves towards measurement.

1. Conducts mentorship sessions by providing guidance on Air Force standards and expectations 2. Facilitates structured training sessions by delivering course material and hands-on instruction 3. Documents trainee progress to track competency growth over time 4. Ensures guidance to standards by monitoring and correcting trainee performance

5.3.2. Another key component within the rubric is the supporting competencies section at the bottom left-hand corner. These are the top four supporting competencies that can help members excel and be successful in that particular sub-competency. Some of these supporting competencies are tied directly to the Airmen's Foundational Competencies, while others may be unique to the career field. Having these supporting competencies identified and linked to a career field's competency model can cultivate those underlying characteristics needed to succeed on the job. Leaders, supervisors, trainers, instructors, or mentors can now set members up for greater success by building these supporting competencies and placing their Airmen in situations where they can apply those strategies. All of these elements come together to ensure we can develop Airmen who are better prepared, present and future mission focused, and ready to succeed in any situation. Refer to DAFMAN 36-2643, Coaching and Mentoring Program, for information on integrating competencies into a mentoring strategy.

5.3.3. Competency Development. The intent of moving towards a competency-based system is to sharpen our Airmen's tactical expertise, operational competence, strategic vision, and joint proficiency to lead and execute the full spectrum of USAF missions. This occurs not in a classroom but on the job by combining education, training, and experiences to provide Airmen with a better developmental pathway as they move along their careers. Airmen are still required to complete specific training courses, core tasks, and other training requirements in order to attain a 3-, 5-, and 7-skill levels. Competency development allows Airmen to move beyond the minimum career field requirements and begin addressing developmental gaps and strengthening their capabilities. The information included within the competency model will allow members within the Military Training Leader community to manage their professional growth and development by identifying their strengths and weaknesses against clear and objective behaviors within the competency model.

5.3.4. Below are the competency rubrics for the 8B100, Military Training Leader career field.

Competency	Proficiency Levels	Observable Behaviors
Development	Expert Consistency of Application: Able to innovate and formulate strategies; able to model/guide/teach others the competency of how to apply the competency	1. Designs and refines strategies by evaluating emerging trends and mission demands 2. Models and mentors senior personnel and training teams to ensure consistent, high-level execution of principles 3. Innovates guidance methodologies by integrating cutting-edge techniques and feedback systems 4. Leads initiatives to institutionalize best practices across the organization
Sub-Competency	Advanced Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in complex situations	1. Competency	Proficiency Levels	Observable Behaviors
Organizational Management	Expert Reach of Influence: MAJCOM/AF-Level/Industry	1. Designs and implements personnel management strategies to enhance force management 2. Collaborates with senior leaders and policy-makers to develop and refine personnel management policies 3. Leverages industry best practices and data analytics to ensure mission readiness 4. Engages with Department of War agencies and industry leaders to integrate innovative personnel management practices
Sub-Competency	Advanced Reach of Influence: Wing/Institutional	1. Develops and implement personnel management strategies to optimize manpower utilization 2. Recommends adjustments to duty assignments and staffing levels by assessing wing-wide personnel needs 3. Interprets Air Force personnel policies and implement standardized procedures to ensure compliance 4. Identifies inefficiencies and introduce data-driven improvements by analyzing personnel management systems
Personnel Management
Description	Intermediate Reach of Influence: Unit/Groups	1. Organizes and balances personnel assignments to optimize workload distribution and operational efficiency 2. Identifies trends in training gaps by ensuring personnel receive necessary development opportunities 3. Monitors performance data to identify patterns, deficiencies and improvement strategies 4. Maintains compliance and standardization, by ensuring enforcement of personnel policies
The administrative activities related to managing an organization's workforce.
Supporting Competencies	Basic Reach of Influence: Individuals	1. Ensures personnel records are maintained to support administrative efficiency and compliance 2. Assigns duties based on personnel strengths and mission priorities to enhance operational effectiveness 3. Records and tracks performance feedback to support career development and evaluation process 4. Reinforces AF policies to maintain organizational discipline

Organizational Management	Expert Impact on: AF-level practices/within industry	1. Develops and implements innovative long-term resource managment strategies to align with Air Force and industry best practices 2. Integrates cutting-edge methodologies to improve Air Force-wide logistics, procurement, and sustainability 3. Provides data-driven recommendations for budget allocations, procurement policies, and force-wide resource planning 4. Drives operational readiness and cost-effectiveness by fostering partnerships with DoD agencies, government entities, and private-sector leaders
Sub-Competency	Advanced Impact on: Management decisions	1. Assesses organizational needs and recommends resource distribution strategies to align with leadership priorities 2. Analyzes resource utilization trends to provide leadership with insights that inform budget planning, procurement, and operational efficiency 3. Establishes policies and procedures to optimize allocation, reduce waste, and improve readiness. 4. Proposes proactive solutions by evaluating potential resource constraints and vulnerabilities
Resource Management
Description	Intermediate Impact on: Specific workplace projects	1. Distributes personnel, equipment, and materials to ensure efficiency and mission success 2. Monitors and tracks project expenses to ensure financial resources are utilized within allocated limits 3. Coordinates acquisition, distribution, and maintenance of necessary resources to prevent delays and disruptions 4. Analyzes project timeline to implement strategies that enhance productivity and minimize inefficiencies
The process of efficiently and effectively planning, allocating, and utilizing available resources to achieve specific mission objectives.
Supporting Competencies	Basic Impact on: Specific workplace tasks	1. Tracks and utilizes materials according to workplace task requirements to minimize waste 2. Prioritizes daily tasks effectively to maximize productivity 3. Follows established procedures to sustain operational efficiency 4. Prevents shortagesover- or under-allocation by regularly assessing the availability and condition of required resources

MTL Operations	Expert Consistency of Application: Able to innovate and formulate strategies; able to model/guide/teach others the competency of how to apply the competency	1. Engages with senior leaders, interagency partners, and industry experts, to establish and drive long-term initiatives 2. Models best practices and train leaders to build a culture of discipline and accountability 3. Leverages experience and trend analysis to shape and refine compliance policies 4. Develops and implements new strategies by addressing emerging challenges
Sub-Competency	Advanced Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in complex situations	1. Applies standards in time-sensitive, resource-constrained, or high-pressure situations to maintain mission readiness 2. Integrates compliance practices across multiple operational units for regulatory requirements in joint or multi-domain operations 3. Assesses and monitors policy guidance for standard procedures on going compliance 4. Implements appropriate corrective actions to balance mission success of policy adherence
Compliance
Description	Intermediate Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in a variety of situations	1. Applies policies and procedures across various operational settings and mission requirements to maintain organizational discipline 2. Enforces and identifies non-compliance trends by assessing adherence to standards in multiple areas 3. Adjusts evaluation techniques to align with changing mission needs and evolving regulatory expectations 4. Identifies and addresses compliance deficiencies by promoting sustained adherence of discipline and policy requirements
The adherence to policy, discipline, and operational standards through oversight, evaluations, and enforcement.
Supporting Competencies	Basic Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time	1. Follows established policies, procedures, and operational standards to maintain compliance 2. Conducts regular self-checks by ensuring sustained adherence of discipline and regulatory requirements 3. Upholding mission effectiveness by applying prescribed operational standards consistently within assigned duties 4. Documents and reports minor infractions to sustain discipline within the unit

Competency	Proficiency Levels	Observable Behaviors
Communication	Expert Consistency of Application: Able to innovate and formulate strategies; able to model/guide/teach others the competency of how to apply the competency	1. Designs and implements innovative frameworks to improve clarity, cohesion, and engagement at all levels 2. Integrates strategic methodologies to develop and refine Air Force policies 3. Reinforces standards and mission success through persuasive, adaptive, and directive communication skills 4. Collaborates with DoW entities, government agencies, and industry leaders to enhance joint operations and interoperability
Sub-Competency	Advanced Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in complex situations	1. Maintains authority and clarity for directives and expectations in time-sensitive or high-pressure environments 2. Leverages techniques to inspire and influence decision-making 3. Ensures unit cohesion and operational effectiveness by providing clear, composed, and decisive messaging (e.g. emergency situations or critical incidents) 4. Articulates ideas and policy changes by facilitating transitions (e.g. gain buy-in, maintain workforce engagement, organizational shifts)
Communication
Description	Intermediate Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in a variety of situations	1. Engages with diverse teams and leadership levels to ensure seamless coordination 2. Enhances clarity and accountability by providing well-structured written correspondence (e.g. reports and counseling documentation) 3. Applies active listening and de-escalation techniques to resolve disputes while reinforcing discipline and standards 4. Adjusts approaches for audience, situation and operational environment
The clear, professional, and directive interactions to mentor, instruct, and enforce standards.
Supporting Competencies	Basic Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time	1. Corrects deficiencies by reinforcing military customs, courtesies, and operational procedures 2. Provides appropriate feedback, and clarifies expectations by listening to subordinates, peers, and leaders 3. Reinforces authority by fostering an environment of discipline and respect 4. Provides clear, concise, direct, verbal, and written communication to issue guidance, instructions, or corrections
Communication Decision Making Flexibility Teamwork

6. Training Decisions. The CFETP has undergone a considerable revision towards building a competency-based training and development platform for the Military Training Leader career field. A key shift has been made to move from task-based training to an outcomes-based learning approach. A task is a unit of work activity or operation which forms a significant part of a duty. These are singular in nature and are usually accomplished in one continuous action, which also can occur independently of other tasks. Conversely, outcomes are learning goals that typically consist of a multitude of tasks. These outcomes are actions and performances that embody and reflect the learner's competence in using content, information, ideas, and tools successfully. Focusing on learning outcomes allow organizations, leaders, supervisors, and trainers to incorporate foundational competencies and underlying characteristics (values, traits, attitudes) into learning, which is necessary for developing Airmen with the competencies needed for future challenges. The following decisions were made as a result of close coordination between HQ AETC, Technical Training, schoolhouse instructors and staff, field SMEs, functional managers and the STRT sought to develop the learning outcomes. This was accomplished by reverse engineering the behaviors found in the Military Training Leader occupational competency model and then by asking what does an Airman need to be able to know and do in order to master a specific behavior. The intent of the learning outcomes is to identify all factors needed to succeed in attaining behavior. Formal training will be codified by using the behavioral statement coding system for the STS as opposed to the proficiency code key. As a result, each line item will consist of a verb and the coding system for formal training will only use P (performance), K (knowledge), and pk (performance-knowledge).

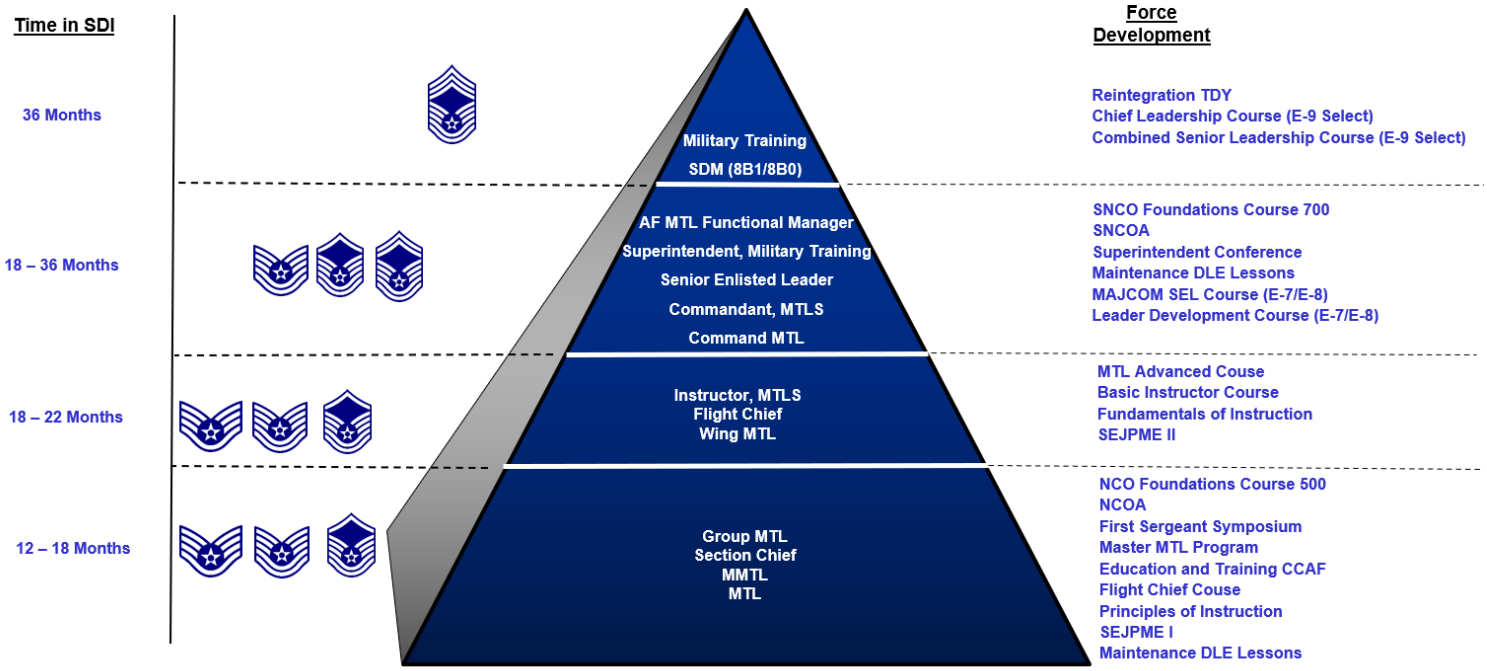

6.1. The CFETP uses a building block approach (simple to complex) to encompass the entire spectrum of training requirements for the Military Training Leader career field. The spectrum includes a strategy for when, where, and how to meet the training requirements. The strategy must be apparent and affordable to reduce duplication of training and eliminate a disjointed approach to training. The following decisions were made by a career field STRT held at Keesler AFB, MS.

6.3. Seven Level Upgrade Training Requirements. Due to MTLs not performing duties within their Primary Air Force Specialty Code (PAFSC), they will be placed in "TSC-P" to pause upgrade until they return to their PAFSC. Coordinate with the Unit Training Manager (UTM) to place MTLs in TSC-P.

6.4. Core Tasks. All 8B100 core task requirements are contained in Attachment 1 of this CFETP.

6.5. The CFETP Part II identifies (7) sub-competencies. Each competency is further broken down into the following proficiency levels; basic, intermediate, advanced, and expert. The proficiency levels are not tied to a specific rank or position. Additionally, each occupational competency has supporting competencies tied to them. The supporting competencies can allow Airmen to intentionally develop those transferrable underlying characteristics that will translate to mission capabilities, mission readiness, and mission success for the agile, future thinking Airmen. Airmen, supervisors, trainers, mentors, and leaders should look for opportunities to integrate the supporting competencies into every facet of an Airman's development as they develop proficiency in 8B100 competencies.

7. MTL Force Development Pyramid. There are significant opportunities for professional growth and development available within the MTL community, as outlined in the MTL Force Development Pyramid. This pyramid provides a structured approach to enhance knowledge, skills, and experience.

8. Community College of the Air Force. Enrollment in CCAF occurs upon completion of Basic Military Training. CCAF provides the opportunity to obtain an Associate in Applied Sciences Degree.

8.1. Degree Requirements. All Airmen are automatically entered into the CCAF program. To be awarded an associate degree, the 5-level must be awarded, and the following requirements must be met:

Semester Hours
Technical Education	24
Leadership, Management, and Military Studies	6
General Education	15
Program Elective	15
Total	60

8.1.1. Leadership, Management, and Military Studies (6 Semester Hours): May be satisfied with Professional Military Education, civilian management courses, and/or testing credit.

8.1.2. Technical Education (24 Semester Hours): A minimum of nine (9) semester hours of CCAF institutional credit awarded from specialty-related formal training must be applied toward Technical Core subject requirements. The remaining semester hours are applied from technical core or elective courses.

8.1.3. General Education (15 Semester Hours): This requirement is satisfied by application of courses accepted in transfer or by testing credit. The criteria for application of courses to the general education requirement are provided in the CCAF catalog.

8.1.4. Program Elective (15 Semester Hours): Satisfied with applicable technical education; leadership, management and military studies; or general education requirements. A maximum of nine (9) semester hours of CCAF degree-applicable technical course credit otherwise not applicable to program of registration. See the CCAF catalog for details regarding the Associate of Applied Science for this specialty.

8.1.5. Off-Duty Education. Although not required for entry to the SDI, individuals should be pursuing a 2-year/associate degree. (NOTE: For AETC courses taught by MTLS, a degreed faculty is necessary to maintain accreditation through the Southern Association of Colleges and School)

Section E – Transitional Training Guide There are currently no transitional training requirements.

Section F – Training Decisions

10. SDM 8B100, MTL Competency Review/STRT: The week of 7—11 April 2025, a team consisting of the 8B100 SDM, 2 AF Program Managers, the Training Pipeline Manager, a representative from AETC/A3J (competencies), MTL SMEs, and schoolhouse representatives met to develop outcomes for the 81B00 competency model.

PART II

Section A – 8B100 Specialty Training Standard (STS)

1. Implementation. The STS will be used to identify requirements for technical training provided by AETC for the 8B100 Military Training Leaders (MTLs).

2. Purpose. As prescribed in DAFMAN 36-2689, Training Program, this STS:

2.1. Identifies the outcomes and supporting technical references for the 8B100 SDI. It is used to document task completion when placed in the DAF Form 623, Individual Training Record, and used according to DAFMAN 36-2689. CFETP documentation shall be IAW DAFMAN 36-2689 or any subsequent messages.

2.2. Lists in Column 1 Technical References (TR), competencies, sub-competencies, supporting competencies, behaviors, and outcomes for Military Training Leaders.

2.3. Identifies in Column 2, the behavior match to the occupational competencies.

2.4. Column 3. All 8B100s, regardless of location, must complete all core tasks identified by an asterisk (*) in Column 3. For all sections, any task identified with a double asterisk () requires a third-party certification. Personnel are considered in training until they become 100% task qualified. At a minimum, personnel must show training progression every 30 calendar days.

2.5. Column 4. Record "Start Date" when task certification training is started.

2.6. Column 5. Record "Complete Date" when task certification training is completed.

2.7. Column 6. Trainee initials when task certification training is completed.

2.8. Column 7. Trainer initials when task certification training is completed

2.9. Column 8. Certifier initials when task certification training is completed for  tasks.

2.10. Columns 9 – 10 identify the competency requirements for the MTL Basic Course and the Advanced Military Training Leader Course.

2.11. All tasks are completed using the "GO/NO GO" standard. "GO" means the MTL can perform the task without assistance and meets local requirements for accuracy, timeliness, and correct use of procedures.

2.11.1. Upon assignment, Superintendents/SELs or designated equivalent will use the standardized Master Training Plan (MTP) in the system of record to ensure all 8B100 training is conducted and documented IAW this CFETP.

2.12. CPR certification will be completed during the MTLS course, and refresher training will be accomplished as necessary during the tour of duty

2. On-the-Job Training (OJT).

2.1. Purpose of OJT: OJT is a time for the MTL to gain experience and be upgraded as a fully qualified MTL. OJT is standardized under the direct observation and supervision of a qualified trainer and MTL Section Chief/designated equivalent. OJT uses a multi-dimensional (observe, assist, practice, and evaluate) approach that validates an MTL's ability to perform the roles and responsibilities required of all MTLs.

2.2. Requirements: MTLs are entered into On-the-Job Training (OJT) upon MTLS graduation. All identified core tasks must be completed within 90 to 120 days of the OJT start date. Additionally, MTLs are required to achieve 100% task qualification no later than 12 months after beginning OJT.

4. CCAF Internship

4.1. CCAF Teaching Internship: The CCAF Teaching Internship only applies to those instructors assigned to teach a CCAF credit-awarding course, MTLS Instructors. The CCAF Teaching Internship is part of the faculty requirements of the CCAF Instructor Qualification Program. Note: The CCAF Teaching Internship is performed, documented, and reported to CCAF IAW the CCAF Campus Affiliations Policies, Procedures and Guidelines.

Section B – Course Objective List

Course objectives for each course are written to the level identified in the specialty training standard in Part II.

Section C – Support Material. There are currently no support material requirements.

Section D – Training Course Index

5. Purpose. The section of the CFETP identifies training courses available for the 8B100 SDI.

5.1. Air Force In-Residence Courses. These courses are governed by the requirements in the STS at Attachment 1.

COURSE NUMBER	TITLE	LOCATION
E3ALR8B100 0M5C	Military Training Leader Basic Course	Keesler AFB, MS
E3AAR8B100 0M5C	Advanced Military Training Leader Course	Keesler AFB, MS

5.2. MTL Deliberate Leadership Education

TITLE
Burnout
Effective Leader: Giving and Receiving Feedback
Mentoring and Coaching

Navigating Interpersonal Conflict
Tools of a Leader: Motivating and Influencing
Understanding Resiliency
Balanced Leader: Emotional Agility
Building Cohesive Teams
Emotional Intelligence
Energy Management
Leader Developer
Elements of Choice
Power of Mindset
Grit: Theory to Practice
Humility in Leadership
