1 PREFACE

The CFETP is a comprehensive education and training document that identifies life-cycle education and training requirements, training support resources, and minimum core task requirements for this specialty. The CFETP will provide band personnel with a clear career path to success and will instill rigor in all aspects of career field training. Note: Civilians occupying associated positions may use Part II to support duty position qualification training.

The standardized audition process and confirmation of 3-skill level (Apprentice) certification is documented in the Specialty Training Standard (STS) for 3N1X1, 3N2X1, and 3N3X1 personnel. The remainder of Part II of this CFETP is not maintained for 3N2X1 and 3N3X1 personnel.

3N2X1 and 3N3X1 personnel are promoted to the grade of Technical Sergeant and upgraded to Craftsman (7-skill level) immediately upon arrival at the permanent duty station. The Premier Band Commander at each location develops the knowledge and skills required to maintain proficiency standards. 3N2X1 and 3N3X1 personnel are not required to attend Airman Leadership School. While they require no formal UGT to Craftsman, they must complete the Noncommissioned Officer's Academy prior to promotion to the grade of Master Sergeant.

The CFETP consists of two parts; both parts of the plan are used bysupervisors to plan, manage, and control training within the career field.

Part I Provides information necessary for overall management of the specialty.

- Section 1A: Explains how everyone will use the plan.
- Section 1B: Identifies career field progression information, duties and responsibilities, training strategies, and career field path, and associates each level with specialty qualifications (knowledge, education, training, etc.).
- Section 1C: Explains the Occupational Competency Model, Airmen's Foundational Competencies, and career field training decisions.
- Section 1D: Indicates resource constraints (e.g., funds, manpower, equipment, and facilities).
- Section 1E: Identifies transition training guide requirements for SSgt through MSgt.

Part II Includes the following:

- Section 2A: Identifies the Specialty Training Standards (STS) and includes duties, tasks, technical references, and optional support materials to support training, standardized audition requirements, Air Education and Training Command (AETC) conducted training (3-skill level), and core task requirements.
- Section 2B: Identifies the course objective list.
- Section 2C: Identifies optional support materials.
- Section 2D: Identifies a training course index.
- Section 2E: Identifies a major command's (MAJCOM) unique training requirements.

Using guidance provided in this CFETP ensures individuals in Band specialties receive effective, efficient, and deliberate training at the appropriate milestones of their career. This plan enables us to train today to cultivate the highly skilled Airmen of tomorrow, preparing them to excel in their specialized profession. At the unit level, supervisors and trainers will utilize Part II to identify, plan, and execute training tailored to our core competencies, aligning with the strategic goals of the career field.

2 ABBREVIATIONS AND TERMS EXPLAINED

Career Field Education and Training Plan (CFETP). A comprehensive document outlining life-cycle education and training requirements, support resources, and minimum core tasks for a specialty. It establishes a clear development pathway, guiding personnel toward technical expertise and professional growth within the career field.

Core Task. Tasks identified by the Career Field Manager (CFM) as minimum qualification requirements for a specific Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC), regardless of duty position. Core tasks may apply to a specific skill level or across the AFSC, as outlined in the CFETP.

Department of the Air Force Enlisted Classification Directory (DAFECD). The official, comprehensive publication that defines the occupational structure of the enlisted force, detailing the specific specialties, qualifications, duties, and entry/retention requirements for every Air Force Specialty Code (AFSC). For more information see hyperlink: https://myfss.us.af.mil/USAFCommunity/s/knowledge-detail?pid=kA0t0000000wlDpCAI.

On-the-Job Training (OJT). Practical, hands-on training conducted at the duty location to train personnel for both upgrade skill level and job requirements.

Proficiency Training. Additional training provided to personnel to increase skills and knowledge beyond the minimum required for upgrade training (either in-residence or on-the-job training).

Qualification Training (QT). Hands-on performance training designed to qualify an Airman for a specific duty position, conducted during and after upgrade training to maintain current qualifications and provide the necessary performance skills.

Qualification Training Package (QTP). An instructional package (e.g., continuity guide, workbook) designed for unit-level use to qualify, or assist in qualifying, personnel in a specific duty position, program, or piece of equipment. These packages may be delivered via digital media, computer-based training, or printed materials.

Shred. An alphabetical identifier appended to an Air Force Specialty (AFS) that serves to discriminate between specific specialties within an AFS.

Specialty Training. The complete training process (life cycle) used to qualify Airmen in their assigned specialty.

Specialty Training Standard (STS). An official Air Force publication that outlines an AFS in terms of the specific tasks and knowledge expected on the job. It serves as a training contract between Air Education and Training Command (AETC) and the functional user.

Standard. A defined value, entity, or concept established by authority, custom, or consent to serve as a reference for measuring quantities or qualities, establishing practices, or evaluating results.

Subject Matter Experts (SMEs). Subject matter experts are individuals qualified to perform in a specialty. In most instances, subject matter experts are Noncommissioned Officers (NCO) with extensive technical training and a proven background in their AFS.

Upgrade Training (UGT). Mandatory training for the attainment of a higher skill level.

Utilization and Training Workshop (U&TW). Career field managers use the utilization and training workshop process to develop and review training programs within an AFS or civilian occupational series. The goal of the utilization and training workshop process is to develop architecture for effective life-cycle training to be provided at appropriate points throughout a career path and to ensure that personnel within the specialty or series are properly employed.

PART I

3 SECTION 1A – GENERAL INFORMATION

3.1 CAREER FIELD AND EDUCATION PLAN (CFETP)

3.1.1 Purpose. The CFETP provides information that the CFM, commanders, Senior Enlisted Leaders (SEL), training managers, supervisors, and trainers need to plan, develop, manage, and conduct an effective career field training program. It outlines the training that individuals in this AFS should receive to develop and progress throughout their career. This plan identifies initial skills, upgrade, qualification, and proficiency training. Initial skill requirements are assessed through a standardized audition process, required for entry into the career field. Additional 3-skill level requirements are accomplished while assigned to the Air Force Basic Military Training environment. Upgrade training includes all mandatory qualification requirements for the award of the 3-, 5-, 7-, and 9-skill levels. Qualification training is actual hands-on task performance training designed to prepare an Airman for a specific duty position. Qualification training occurs both during and after the upgrade training process and is designed to provide and/or assess the performance skills and knowledge required to do the job. Proficiency training is additional training provided to personnel to increase their skills and knowledge beyond the minimum required for upgrade. The CFETP has several purposes, some are:

3.1.2 Serves as a management tool to plan, manage, conduct, and evaluate a career field training program. Also, it is used to help supervisors identify training at the appropriate point in an individual's career.

3.1.3 Identifies task and knowledge training requirements for each skill level in the specialty.

3.1.4 Lists mandatory and optional training material available in the specialty.

3.1.5 Identifies major resource constraints that impact full implementation of the desired career field training process.

3.2 USES OF CFETP

3.2.1 The plan will be used by supervisors at all levels to ensure that comprehensive and cohesive training programs are available for everyone in the specialty.

3.2.2 SELs and unit training managers (UTMs) will work with the CFM to identify gaps in training. The CFM will initiate an annual review of this document to ensure currency and accuracy. (T-1)

3.2.3 Commanders, SELs, unit training managers, supervisors, and trainers will ensure their training programs complement the CFETP mandatory initial, upgrade, and proficiency requirements.

3.2.4 Everyone will complete the mandatory training requirements specified in Part II, Section A of this CFETP.

3.3 COORDINATION AND APPROVAL

3.3.1 The CFM is the approval authority.

3.4 BAND OCCUPATIONAL BADGES

3.4.1 Occupational Badge Wear and Significance. In accordance with Department of the Air Force policy, occupational badges reflect an Airman's formal training, technical proficiency, and career progression. Serving as an outward credential of commitment and mastery to the force, the badge indicates a member's technical qualification within their designated career field. Progression is denoted by three levels—Basic, Senior, and Master—which signify increasing levels of technical knowledge, experience, and leadership responsibility.

Basic Senior Master

3.4.2 IAW DAFMAN 36-2100, MILITARY CLASSIFICATION, TECHNICAL TRAINING, AND RETRAINING, the Band badge (Regional and Premier) is awarded as follows:

3.4.2.1 Wear the Basic Badge after successfully completing the audition process, graduating from Basic Military Training (BMT) as a member of the Drum and Bugle Flight, and arriving at your permanent duty station.

3.4.2.1.1 Prior service, cross-trainees, and re-trainees wear the Basic Badge after successfully completing the audition and arriving at their permanent duty station.

3.4.2.2 Wear the Senior Badge after being awarded the 7-skill level (Craftsman).

3.4.2.3 Wear the Master Badge as a Master Sergeant or above, with 5 total years experience in the specialty from the date of being awarded the 7-skill level.

3.5.3 Credit-by-Examination Options: CLEP and DSST - The College-Level Examination Program (CLEP), administered by the College Board, and the DANTES Subject Standardized Tests (DSST) program, owned and managed by Prometric, are two funded testing options that provide Airmen the opportunity to earn undergraduate college credit for knowledge acquired through military training, self-study, and prior experience. Both credit-by-exam programs are funded by the Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES) for eligible service members' first attempts. These standardized, comprehensive examinations are comparable to final examinations in undergraduate courses, with DSST offering more than 30 subject exams across diverse technical, business, and humanities areas that are not covered under the CLEP catalog. Successful completion of these examinations allows Airmen to secure college credit that directly applies toward CCAF associate degree requirements and other higher education goals. For a complete list of available subject exams, testing locations, and study resources, visit the official DANTES portal at https://www.dantes.mil/clep/.

3.5.3.1 Enrollment in CLEP examinations while in 5-level upgrade is at supervisor discretion.

3.5.4 Air University Associate to Baccalaureate Cooperative (AU-ABC)

3.5.4.1 The AU-ABC program links CCAF students and graduates with online accredited civilian academic institutions that offer baccalaureate level educational opportunities to Air Force enlisted personnel.

3.5.4.2 CCAF students and graduates can search for degree programs from a list of military-friendly civilian institutions via the Air Force Virtual Education Center (AFVEC). From there, students can view their education record and CCAF credits earned, apply for Military Tuition Assistance (TA), and shop for baccalaureate degree programs. For more information, refer to the AU-ABC fact page.

3.5.5 Air Force Credentialing Opportunities On-Line (AFCOOL)

3.5.5.1 The AFCOOL Credentialing Program Office (CPO) oversees and executes the AFCOOL Program for the Department of the Air Force (DAF). AFCOOL enables eligible enlisted Airmen to earn and maintain industry-recognized professional certifications and licenses, enhancing their career prospects both during and after military service. The program provides a research and funding tool designed to increase awareness of national professional credentialing opportunities available for all occupational specialties, civilian occupational equivalencies, credentialing agencies, and professional organizations. Enlisted Service members are provided with a lifetime funding cap to pursue credentials across three categories: (1) unlimited primary specialty code credentials, (2) credentials not related to their primary specialty code, and (3) recertification of AFCOOL-funded credentials. AFCOOL is accessible through the Air Force Virtual Education Center (AFVEC) portal https://afvec.us.af.mil/afvec/af-cool/welcome.

5 SECTION 1C - OCCUPATIONAL COMPETENCY MODEL

5.1 AIRMAN'S FOUNDATIONAL COMPETENCIES

The DAF foundational competencies (AFH 36-2647, attachment 2) are a universally valued set of behaviors and capabilities that enable success across all ranks, grades, and career fields. Defined as a combination of knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics (KSAOs) that manifest in observable and measurable patterns of behavior, these competencies serve as the "common currency" of Force Development. Rather than focusing solely on what an Airman knows, this outcomes-based approach targets what an Airman can do, creating a deliberate pathway to develop members who can out-think and out-perform adversaries in complex operational environments. The Air Force has identified 23 foundational competencies universally applicable to all Airmen, categorized into four primary groups:

5.1.2 To facilitate this personal and professional development, Airmen are highly encouraged to utilize the competency-based resources and assessment tools hosted on the MyVector platform. Through self-assessments and 360-degree feedback, Airmen and supervisors receive immediate feedback regarding expected behaviors and professional standards, providing a tailored development plan to guide self-improvement and ensure readiness within the Profession of Arms.

5.2 OCCUPATIONAL COMPETENCIES

5.2.1 Competency-Based Training Paradigm Shift. This CFETP represents a transition from traditional task-based training to an outcomes-based learning and development model. While tasks describe individual units of work, learning outcomes represent the synthesis of multiple tasks, foundational competencies, and professional behaviors. By focusing on holistic learning outcomes rather than isolated actions, this framework enables commanders, supervisors, and trainers to cultivate the underlying characteristics—such as values, traits, and attitudes—necessary to develop Airmen prepared for future operational challenges. To achieve this, formal training standards are codified using behavioral metrics that prioritize demonstrated performance and knowledge acquisition over legacy proficiency codes, ensuring a direct link between training environments and mission-ready capability.

5.2.2 Training Strategy and Functional Collaboration. To implement this paradigm shift, the CFETP utilizes a building-block approach—progressing from simple to complex—to encompass the entire spectrum of training requirements for the Regional Band career field. This comprehensive strategy dictates when, where, and how training requirements are met, providing a unified approach that eliminates disjointed efforts and reduces duplication of training. The transition to this outcomes-based model, and the resulting training decisions, were directly driven by the functional community. These operational changes were finalized during a career field Specialty Training Requirements Team (STRT) held in San Antonio, TX, which leveraged the combined expertise of HQ, AETC, and field Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) to successfully develop the Occupational Competency Model, define and map the new learning outcomes.

5.2.3 Occupational Competencies. Occupational competencies are a set of competencies required of all Airmen within a specific workforce category. These competencies provide a framework that describes the knowledge, skills, abilities, and other characteristics needed to perform that function's mission successfully.

5.2.4 Occupational Competency Model. A career field's occupational competency model is an organized collection of competencies required for mission success. This model provides the framework to effectively assess, develop, and monitor the specific behaviors required of Airmen within the Band community. Developed through continuous collaboration with the functional community, the model allows Airmen to see how their learning outcomes, OJT, and overall developmental experiences directly align with the career field's strategic objectives.

5.2.5 Occupational Competency Rubric. Following model development, subject matter experts construct competency rubrics that define each competency, its proficiency levels, and measurable, observable behaviors. These rubrics outline the professional expectations and performance criteria required to align Airman development with the career field's strategic direction. Figure 3 illustrates an example of a Regional Band (AFSC 3N1X1) competency rubric.

5.2.6 To better understand how to read and utilize the competency rubric, a breakdown of each component is explained below in figure 3a-c.

Observable Behaviors
1. Pioneers innovative techniques to drive creative modernization and positively transform ensemble quality 2. Contributes new performance ideas resulting in high-quality music, mission and organizational impact		The observable behaviors are statements of what can be observed from an individual manifesting the competency at the respective competency level. They provide objective evidence that the individual possesses the competency level and shows what effective performance looks like. The behaviors are written to be specific enough so they can be observable and lend themselves towards measurement.
1. Incorporates innovative techniques (e.g. Electronic Wind Instrument, Multi-Effect Pedals, etc.) technology to enhance ensemble performance 2. Masters advanced musical capabilities to seamlessly integrate into diverse environments 3. Epitomizes capabilities to inspire excellence in ensembles (e.g. emergency situations or critical incidents)
1. Showcases stage presence and elements of musical expression to effectively engage the audience 2. Performs from memory to enhance musical product 3. Demonstrates high level of stylistic versatility, accuracy, and musical proficiency 4. Performs in auxiliary roles or with expected alternate techniques (e.g., non-primary instruments, mutes, woodwind doubles, electric bass) to multiply force capabilities 5. (Audio Engineers ONLY) Demonstrates breadth of technical knowledge across all industry standard practices (e.g. trouble shooting, equipment repair, audio networking, etc.) to ensure quality delivery of musical product
1. Produces characteristic tone and control of the instrument's sound to elevate musical expression to its peak potential 2. Performs with precision (e.g., scoring, signal processing, mixing, accurate pitch, range control, moving seamlessly through different tempi, meters, and rhythmic subdivisions) to enhance musicality at the highest level 3. Performs, or creates, or mixes with phrasing and dynamics in diverse musical styles to fit seamlessly into music ensembles 4. Responds to feedback through a solutions-based mindset to enhance performance quality

Proficiency Levels		The proficiency levels are broken into four parts: basic, intermediate, advanced, and expert.
Expert Consistency of Application: Able to innovate and formulate strategies; able to model/guide/teach others the competency of how to apply the competency		Under each proficiency level are predetermined criteria selected by a group of SMEs from your career field and validated by the career field. The criteria were used as the basis to develop observable behaviors. These criteria provide concrete parameters for the behaviors, which are consistent but progressive in nature as a member moves up the scale from basic to expert.
Advanced Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in complex situations		Some of the criteria (e.g. depth of knowledge, consistency of application/complexity, and thinking challenge) allow an individual to become an expert through the experience gained in a particular job and over a period of time. For example, the person can quickly move up different proficiency levels while they are serving as a technician at a flight; they move quickly because they are exposed to a variety of situations.
Intermediate Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time in a variety of situations		While other criteria (e.g. scope, impact, and reach of influence) require more of a hierarchical approach to gain the experience needed to progress through the competency levels. Moving through the proficiency levels may be difficult to do in certain jobs. For example, if scope at the expert level requires job integration with the AF-level, then the individual may have to be in a position where they can gain that experience (i.e. at HHQ, Wing, or an organization with far reaching capabilities).
Basic Consistency of Application: Sustained application of competency over time

Competency Engagement	←	The competency section states the competency group.
Sub-Competency Music Performance	←	The sub-competency section states the narrower category that forms part of the competency group. Note: Some models may only consist of a competency and not include a sub-competency.
Description The professional presentation of music that showcases versatility and precision to enhance national and international relations.	←	The description section provides a statement that gives details about the sub-competency, enabling career field members to better understand how sub-competency relates to the AFS.
Supporting Competencies Communication Decision Making Flexibility Teamwork	←	The supporting competencies section are supported-level competencies that are linked to the success of the sub-competency. These competencies lend themselves more toward areas like values, traits, and attitudes. These competencies were included as part of a larger survey that went out to the entire AFS; respondents were asked to rate the top supporting competencies they believe will contribute to higher successful performance within the sub-competency.

5.2.7 The rubric also incorporates a 'supporting competencies' section, highlighting the top four foundational or career-field specific competencies necessary to excel in each sub-competency. Identifying these relationships enables leaders, supervisors, and mentors to deliberately target underlying skills and position Airmen for greater success. This integrated approach ensures the development of mission-ready, future-focused Airmen. For further application, AFH 36-2643, Air Force Mentoring Program, outlines how to incorporate these competencies into structured mentoring strategies to maximize Airman growth.

5.2.8 Competency Development. The intent of moving towards a competency-based system is to sharpen our Airmen's tactical expertise, operational competence, strategic perspective, and joint proficiency to execute the full spectrum of missions. This occurs on the job by combining education, training, and experiences to provide a better developmental pathway throughout their careers. While Airmen must still complete core tasks and other training requirements, competency development allows them to move beyond minimum requirements to address developmental gaps and strengthen their capabilities. The information within this model will allow members of the 3N1 community to manage their professional growth by identifying their strengths and weaknesses against clear, objective behaviors

8 SECTION 2A - SPECIALTY TRAINING STANDARD (STS)

8.1.1 Implementation. This STS will be used to document certification and award of the Apprentice (3-skill level) through the standardized audition process and completion of the BMT Drum and Bugle Corps Ceremonial training program. 3N1X1 personnel will use this STS to document certification and award of Journeyman (5-skill level), Craftsman (7-skill level), and Superintendent (9-skill level).

8.1.2 Purpose. As prescribed in DAFMAN 36-2689, this STS:

8.1.2.1 Lists in Column 1 detail the learning outcomes associated with the competencies, proficiency levels, and observable behaviors required for AFSC 3N1XX.

8.1.2.2 Lists in Column 2 indicate all core task requirements, which are mandatory for awarding the 3-, 5-, 7-, and 9-skill levels. Additionally, this identifies learned outcomes for distinct organizational roles (marked with *).

8.1.2.3 To document OJT, Column 3 is used to log the training details, including the start date, completion date, and the approving trainer. Column 4 is then used to assign the specific proficiency code that reflects the trainee's performance on the learning outcome.

8.1.2.4 The Behavioral Statement Coding System is used to distinguish between Subject Knowledge (K), Performance (P), and Performance Knowledge (pk) training for each task.

8.1.2.5 Is used to document task completion within the authorized Air Force electronic training record system. CFETP documentation shall be in accordance with (IAW) DAFMAN 36-2689, or any subsequent guidance.

8.1.2.6 Transcribing. Transcribing documentation to a revised CFETP is an administrative function, not a re-evaluation of training; therefore, 'supervisor' and 'trainer' are synonymous for transcription purposes. This administrative update must be completed within 120 days of the CFETP revision date or its publication in the automated training records system.

8.1.2.7 Certification. Core tasks identified in this CFETP do not require certification.

8.1.2.8 Disqualification and Requalification. When an Airman is found to be unqualified on a task previously qualified on for their duty position, the supervisor will decertify the task in the authorized electronic training records system and document the action in a journal entry. Following successful remedial training, the supervisor will recertify the task in the electronic training system with an accompanying journal entry. If the Airman fails to regain qualification through remedial training, or if the lack of qualification impacts their overall skill-level progression, the Unit Commander (or designated representative) will make the final determination regarding formal AFSC progression, retraining, or disqualification.

8.1.2.9 Training Standard. Learning outcomes are trained and qualified to the "go/no go" level. "Go" means the individual can perform the task without assistance and meet local demands for accuracy, timeliness and correct use of procedures IAW DAFMAN 36-2689.

8.1.2.10 Recommendations. Please submit all training-related comments and recommendations through appropriate command channels to the CFM.

Section 2C - Support Materials

3N1 AUDITION QUALIFICATION FOREWORD: AUDITION SUPPORT MATERIALS USER GUIDE

1. Purpose

This foreword provides instructions for Audition Coordinators and shred Subject Matter Experts (SMEs) on the administration of 3N1X1 auditions. It outlines the use of the Specialty Training Standard (STS) for Music Performance (3.3) and the corresponding support materials detailed in Section 2C, attachment 1. These materials, organized by instrumental specialty (shred), are divided into two parts: the STS Technical Evaluation Method and the Recommended Works, to ensure a standardized audition process for all 3N1X1 personnel.

2. Audition Intent

The intent of the standardized audition is to establish a hiring process that accurately reflects on-the-job requirements and provides a consistent experience for all candidates, regardless of audition location. This process is designed to vet professional musicians through a fair and competitive evaluation of their fundamental skills, flexibility, versatility, and adaptability to qualify them as a 3N1 Airman.

3. Specialty Training Standard (STS) Technical Evaluation Method

The "STS Technical Evaluation Method," located on the first page of each shred's attachment in Section 2C, details the sequence of events for each audition and translates the Learning Outcomes from the STS for Music Performance (3.3.1.1 – 3.3.1.18) into mandatory audition elements. For each audition element, the corresponding Learning Outcomes from Music Performance are listed in the right-hand column. Audition Coordinators will reference this document to ensure all requirements are administered consistently for all auditions across the career field.

- The first round of all auditions will be conducted "blind," except for Arranger (shred P), Vocalist (shred R), and Audio Engineer (shred V) auditions.
- Resumes will be utilized only during the pre-screening phase for Arranger (shred P) and Audio Engineer (shred V) auditions to assist in determining candidate qualification.

4. Recommended Works and Supplemental Texts

The second and subsequent pages of each shred attachment contain the "Recommended Works and Supplemental Texts." These pages provide the repertoire lists and evaluation instructions that shred SMEs must use to build audition packets.

- The works listed are mandatory for all auditions. Any request for an exception must be routed to the CFM for approval.

5. Audition Flow

Unless otherwise specified in the "STS Technical Evaluation Method" or "Recommended Works and Supplemental Texts," all auditions will proceed through the following four phases:

- Phase 1: Pre-Screening. Shred SMEs will review all pre-screen submissions to evaluate whether a candidate demonstrates the potential to meet the STS standards for Music Performance (3.3) and warrants an invitation to a live audition.
- Phase 2: Live Audition, Round 1. Audition panels will consist of up to five Subject Matter Experts (SMEs). To ensure a complete panel, members may be sourced from both the candidate's primary specialty and supporting specialties (Shreds). The panel will provide a recommendation to the qualifying authority (Band Commander or Senior Enlisted Leader, as detailed in DAFMAN 35-106, 9.2.2.), who will determine which candidates advance to Round Two.
- Phase 3: Live Audition, Round 2. The panel will evaluate the candidate's versatility, flexibility, and adaptability through an ensemble performance, as detailed in the "STS Technical Evaluation Method." Following the evaluation, the qualifying authority will make the final determination for each candidate.
- Phase 4: Interview. All qualified candidates will have a personal interview with the qualifying authority to give an overview of military service as a bandsman and answer questions.

6. Audition Evaluation & Scoring

Audition panels must utilize the official 3N1X1_STS_Score_Sheet (Section 2C, attachment 2) to document audition results. This form verifies that the candidate's performance aligns directly with the required learning outcomes detailed in the STS (Music Performance - 3.3). This requirement applies to all shred auditions except Arranger (shred P) and Audio Engineer (shred V).
