BOARD MEMBER'S GUIDANCE

A5.1. Quarterly/Annual Board Members are under orders from the 355 FW Commander not to discuss their scored packages. Winners' names are only to be released at the official Awards Ceremonies.

A5.2. Members must be fair and impartial. Set aside any bias (positive or negative) and evaluate the packages based only on the substance of the package before you. No outside influence or prior personal knowledge will be used when scoring the packages. Quality and impact of the accomplishments are important, not the quantity. White space should not be a negative factor. However, please keep in mind it is not the "importance" of one's job you're rating, but what the individual did within their job.

A5.3. This is an important program for our people. Give the packages the time and effort they deserve. When you're finished, set them aside. If you have time, take another look later and adjust as necessary. Once you have an established score for each nominee, identify a power ranking for each nominee with the best being a "1," the second, "2," etc. No ties are allowed; if you have two packages that are very close you must decide which to rate higher. (Remember this is a "whole person" program and you are selecting who you think will be the best representative for the wing.).

BOARD PRESIDENT'S GUIDANCE

A6.2. Ensure you know the ranks, names, and units of your fellow board members.

A6.3. Explain the criteria for review of packages. Members are to focus on the information listed on the AF Form 1206 and grade packages accordingly. The amount of information provided is not the determining factor, but the quality of information provided for the period being considered is paramount. Remind members that in order to be fair and consistent in their scoring, they MUST set aside all prejudices and evaluate the packages in accordance with the provided guidelines. This honest and unbiased review will give our program the integrity and fairness it deserves.

A6.4. Ensure each nominee's rank and name is written on the score sheets that are provided in your board's packages.

A6.5. Once the board is finished scoring their packages, board members must date and sign score sheets and turn in their score sheets to the president. Total the power rankings for each nominee's packages.

A6.6. Ensure all score sheets and packages are turned back in to the Command Chief Master Sergeant's Executive Assistant.
